NEW TRANSIT ROUTE PROPOSAL TOLD

The Bay Area Rapid Transit District no longer entertains the thought that the proposed Olympic Boulevard routing between Lafayette and Walnut Creek would be the least disruptive to the communities involved.

This was explained to about 350 residents of the central county area at Acalanes High School Wednesday night by Bert LaVigne of Orinda, an official of the Tudor Engineering Company, the firm which is making the engineering studies for the five-county rapid transit district.

TUDOR AND RAPID transit officials conducted their sixth in a series of public briefing sessions at the Lafayette high school gymnasium. It was the only such session scheduled in the immediate central county area.

Most of the group came to hear the district's explanation of the proposal to use the Sacramento Northern right-of-way route along the Olympic Boulevard thoroughfare planned by the county—a route already opposed by the Lafayette Chamber of Commerce, Lafayette Improvement Association and other civic and service organizations.

And the active audience applauded heartily when LaVigne announced that "Due to the active interest displayed in Lafayette, we no longer entertain our original thoughts concerning this routing."

LAVIGNE SAID THE district is studying two additional routes between Lafayette and Walnut Creek—one along the freeway and one between the freeway and the proposed Olympic Boulevard.

This latter route, he explained, is a new one which has been developed by Tudor engineers in order to avoid the problems and additional expense which would face the regional rapid transit plan if the freeway routing was adopted between the two communities.

Because of the location of the proposed Walnut Creek station on the Flagg property and because of the maze of freeway interchanges which would be encountered in the vicinity of the freeway, he added, it is necessary for the rail route to drop south someplace between Lafayette and Walnut Creek.

ACCORDING TO LaVigne, the new routing proposal moves eastward along the freeway from the proposed Lafayette station north of Mt. Diablo Boulevard in the vicinity of Moraga Road to a point north of the Sun Valley Lumber Company.

Here, he said, the route would cross Mt. Diablo Boulevard by means of tunnel and then would proceed eastward in a depressed section, would tunnel under the El Curtola interchange and under Boulevard Way and would eventually join the easterly end of the proposed Olympic Boulevard route.

LaVigne's suggestion that this new proposal might require the purchase of same number of homes in the Sun Valley Estates area as the Olympic Boulevard route was met with a cry of "Impossible" from the audience.

GEORGE McDONALD, assistant district information officer, emphasized that the district cannot adopt definite routings until rights-of-way funds are made available by the passage of the proposed bond issue in November.

He said any development in areas which are involved between now and the time when detailed studies are undertaken probably would cause changes in the district's proposals.

LaVigne also defended the location of the Walden-Pleasant Hill station east of the Walnut Creek Bypass between Oak Park and Geary Boulevards on the grounds that the station would be "one of the most important ones in the system."

He explained the station in that location "serves everyone who is tributary to the freeway."

Trustees Weigh Recreation Plan

Central County Hit by Vandals', Burglars' Raids

Sheriff's officers have been kept busy during the last week, with burglaries and incidents of malicious mischief prevalent throughout the central county area.

Central substation deputies reported that the vandalism spree even included the spraying of fire extinguisher fluid on the front of the Rheem Center Barber Shop sometime over the weekend.

DEPUTY DON COLVIN said there probably was no connection between this incident and the Concord barber shop bombing last Friday, explaining the Rheem Center shop is a union shop. Owner of the shop is Floyd Mooney.

Five Pleasant Hill boys—three of them eight years old and the others six and ten—were cited for a juvenile hearing next week after their arrest Tuesday afternoon on charges of breaking windows in a vacant house.

The home, owned by the county, is located at 101 Diablo Court, officers said, and the youths admitted breaking the windows and lighting incense pills inside the dwelling. The lighting caused a large burned spot on a formica counter top.

ACCORDING to the sheriff's office, the boys were observed committing the vandalism by a telephone company employee who was servicing the building.

Central substation officers also reported four burglaries in the area during the week, two of them at nurseries in Lafayette and Pleasant Hill Monday night.

THE BURGLARIZED nurseries were Dave's Nursery, 3685 Mt. Diablo Boulevard, Lafayette, and Navlet's, 1770 Monument Boulevard, Pleasant Hill.

Deputies said that in both cases coin boxes were pried off soft drink machines and small amounts of change were taken. An attempt was made to jimmy the rear door of Dave's, but it was unsuccessful, according to the officers.

The burglars were successful, however, in jimmying the sliding glass door of Navlet's, the deputies noted, and about $1.50 was taken from inside the nursery. Drawers in the establishment were ransacked, they added.

SOMETIME during the weekend, officers continued, burglars raided the Pearson Lumber Company, 230 Hookston Road, Pleasant Hill, ransacked the office desks, stole $10 in change from one of the desk drawers and made off with about $160 worth of saws.

The last burglary in the area was committed at Danny Van Allen's, 3554 Mt. Diablo Boulevard, Lafayette, sometime between Sunday and Tuesday. Officers said the front door was pried open and a cigarette machine and juke box were looted.

FRANK JACKL, masonry contractor of 1039 Esther Drive, Pleasant Hill, reported the theft of a $150 gas engine from a cement mixer being used opposite 1186 Monticello Drive, Lafayette.

Dalby Conducts Concert At Miramonte Tonight

Miramonte's music department will present its second annual midseason concert tonight at 8 p.m. in the high school gymnasium. Highlight of the program will be Dr. J. Philip Dalby as guest conductor.

Dr. Dalby is in the music department of Diablo Valley College where he directs the vocal department. He has directed bands in the 70th Army Air Force, and at San Diego State College, Ogden High School, the University of Utah and Utah State College.

He has also arranged shows and broadcasts for the Army Air Force in Seattle, written a chamber opera, "Good People", and recently he wrote the football shows for Indiana University's Marching Band.

THE MATADOR band will play Dr. Dalby's composition, "Tarantella", tonight, as well as his arrangement of the "Introduction to the Seven Last Words from the Cross", composed by Heinrich Shutz. Dr. Dalby will direct these selections.

Part I of the concert will feature the Matador Band. Student Tom Brooks will direct "Coat of Arms"—the opening selection. Dr. Dalby will then direct "If Thou Be Near" by Bach, "Tarantella" which features a flute solo performed by Barbara Bergen, and the Shutz composition.

THE GIRLS' GLEE will perform in Part II, in an adaptation of "Come Again Sweet Love" by Dowland, "Silent O Moyle" based on an Irish legend, and a Bach selection.

Chopin's "Fantasy Impromptu in C Sharp Minor" will be the piano solo of John Calderwood, Miramonte sophomore.

The second half of the program will be conducted by Gordon E. Mallory, director of Miramonte's music department. The A Capella Choir will be heard in four selections including "My Child Is Gone," early American slave sing, and "Good Folk Who Dwell on Earth," contemporary work by aKtherine K. Davis.

PART V OF the concert will again feature the band in sailing songs, and "Fantasia di Concerto"—a showpiece of melodic music demanding a high degree of technical facility. Trumpet soloist in this piece will be Mario Guarneri. In conclusion the band will play "Praeludium" by John Cacavas, and "Trombones Triumphant" by Don Keller, both contemporary composers.

Mrs. Arnold Thompson, chairman of the music students' parents group, will hostess a reception for the guest director, music students and their parents and the Miramonte faculty. The reception follows the concert.

The public is invited to attend the concert. Tickets are priced at $1 for adults and 50 cents for students.

School District Abandons Altarinda Site Proposal

Trustees of the Orinda Union School District this week set aside their earlier resolution stating the district's desire for a school site on the Altarinda properties.

In effect, the action serves as an indication that the district does not intend to proceed with steps to acquire the new site. The property owners, Robert Spott and his associates, indicated earlier that the Missouri Synod of the Lutheran Church is interested in the entire site for a seminary.

THE TRUSTEES action was taken after James Jentges, assistant superintendent of the district for business affairs, reported the results of a new 10-year enrollment projection indicate that an entire new facility will not be needed by 1970.

Jentges reported that the State Department of Education recommends that three classrooms of each grade level be constructed at all kindergarten through sixth grade schools.

On this basis, if additions be constructed at all existing school sites to bring the sizes to the recommended 18-classroom level and two new schools be built on the large Wagner Ranch site, Jentges said, the district will have enough room for the projected enrollment of 66222 students in 1970.

THIS EVENTUAL construction would require three classrooms at Sleepy Hollow, three at Del Rey, four at Inland Valley and nine at Glorietta, he said. An additional five-acre site may be purchased adjacent to Glorietta for the construction there.

Under the present projections, the district could not purchase the Altarinda site, except with its own funds, Jentges reported. The state permits site purchases based only on five-year projections, he added.

In addition, he explained, the enrollment increase in the district dropped from about 5 per cent during the last few years to .8 of 1 per cent this year.

"WE CAN'T anticipate too much more growth in the district, and we can't foresee any large construction in the Orinda area which would result in enrollment increases," Jentges told the trustees.

In other actions, the board:

1—Reported that present seventh grade students at Pine Grove will remain there for the eighth grade next year.

2—APPROVED the employment of Mrs. Mildred Simon to teach the third grade at Inland Valley.

3—Accepted the resignations of five teachers for personal reasons. The teachers are the Mesdames Joy Benjamini, Joan Thompson, Elizabeth Conlin, Mary Beth Wolford and Marie Callow.

4—Authorized the administration to advertise for bids on seven on-wall tables for the Orinda School auditorium. The tables will be used to convert the room into a cafeteria.

Oakland DA OKs Fluoridation Info. by Pupils

The Oakland public schools department recently received a ruling from Alameda County District Attorney J. Frank Coakley that fluoridation material is not propaganda and can be taught in the classrooms and sent home with the children.

The ruling was delivered upon the request of Oakland Superintendent Selmer Berg.

Since that time all children in the school district have been taking home fluoridation information including a pamphlet put out by the state department of public health entitled, "Dental Protection in Your Drinking Water."

In addition, fluoridation facts are taught in all the schools and the school board has gone on record endorsing fluoridation of the East Bay Municipal Utility District water supply.

The material which is being sent home with the children was prepared by the 28th District PTA, which endorses the fluoridation program as does the state and national PTA organization.

Open Letter to School Board Questions Policy

An open letter was written to the Lafayette School Board this week asking for a change in the board's policy not to allow children to carry home fluoridation facts because the matter is "controversial."

The board decided that children could not take home a recent copy of the Lafayette Health Council's bulletin because it contained material relating to fluoridation.

In the open letter, The Sun said, in part:

THERE IS NO question as to the integrity of the board or of the members, or of the sincerity of the action. In fact, the question is not one of fluoridation at all, but rather one of censorship . . . or a matter of judgement.

"It is a matter of censorship, because the subject under discussion is an educational, medical question, fully discussed in fifth grade texts used in the district.

FURTHERMORE, although County Superintendent of Schools Dr. Floyd Marchus originally stated that the material was "propaganda," he later realized his error in making a decision without receiving a legal opinion and agreed that fluoridation was a subject which could be discussed in such a bulletin.

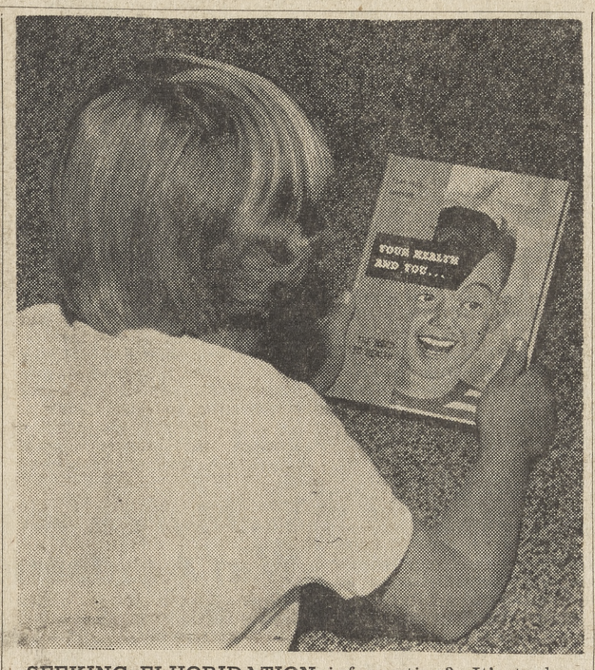
". . . The way out is clear. Either rescind your action and follow Dr. Marchus' recommendations, or ask the district attorney's office for an opinion and then abide by it."

Hospital Talk For Rotarians

Harold Norman, Children's Hospital administrator, was guest speaker at Wednesday's meeting of the Orinda Rotary Club, held at Mike Lynn's Orinda Willows.

Norman's subject was "Services of Children's Hospital."

Next week's speaker will be Joseph R. Longacre, whose talk is entitled "The Miracle of Sugar," according to Dr. George Prlain, program chairman.



SEEKING FLUORIDATION information? It's to be found in this state textbook, a standard fifth grade edition used in most local school districts. Pupils may take these books home when they wish. Trustees May Discuss Fluoridation Monday

The issue of whether information about fluoridation can be distributed to parents through students in the central county remains unresolved, but indications are that the matter will be discussed by the Lafayette School Board at its meeting Monday night.

Trustees of the Lafayette School District announced two weeks ago they would not rescind their previous action prohibiting such distribution of fluoridation information.

This announcement followed by nearly a month the board's decision prohibiting the Lafayette health council, a citizens group formed and supported by Lafayette parents' organizations, from distributing fluoridation matter via the district's students.

Just prior to the board's original action, Dr. Floyd Marchus, county superintendent of schools, issued a news release labeling fluoridation materials as "propaganda" and thus illegal for distribution by the students.

But a short time later, Dr. Marchus stated that he only meant that "fluoridation election materials" are properly classified as propaganda.

THE ISSUE of whether public water in the East Bay Municipal Utility District should be fluoridated will be decided by the district's voters June 7.

It was learned this week that the Orinda Union School District, in its trustees' policies dated January 19, 1959, has a regulation governing the "Dissemination of Information," which reads in part:

"No bulletin, circular or other publication of any character that is not used or intended to be used as the basis of study, recitation or to supplement the regular school studies shall be distributed to any pupil on the school premises . . . provided that the foregoing shall not apply to bulletins or circulars concerning the meetings of their organizations issued by any parent-teacher association or any organization of parents formed for the purpose of cooperating with the school authorities in improving school conditions in the district."

IN ORINDA, the parents'-supported Orinda health council decided several months ago to take no action on either side of the fluoridation question.

Meanwhile, the East Bay Committee Against Fluoridation, Inc., headed by Dr. Alfred E. Cuneo, an Oakland dentist, sent a letter of protest to Dr. Roy E. Simpson, state superintendent of public instruction, in which the Lafayette controversy is cited specifically.

The letter concludes. "We, the undersigned citizen and taxpayer committees respectfully request that you notify all schools and school districts in the State of California of the meaning of Section 8274 (8454) of the Education Code as it specifically prohibits the dissemination of propaganda for or against fluoridation, including the solicitation of funds therefore."

Baseball Diamonds At Wagner Ranch Requested

By LARRY GLAZIER

Details of an agreement permitting the installation of baseball diamonds on the southern end of the Wagner Ranch property for use by the summer baseball program will be discussed at a special meeting of trustees of the Orinda Union School District.

The meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Pine Grove School library.

Trustees indicated their approval of the plan Monday night, but postponed official action until the district receives an opinion on the matter from the district attorney's office.

SUPERINTENDENT of Schools Joseph Sheaff and Nathan Gray, chairman of the board of trustees, were to have met with Deputy District Attorney Charles Hemmings late yesterday and will report to the remainder of the board Monday.

The question of whether the baseball diamonds could be located at the unused school site on the southeast corner of Bear Creek Road and Camino Pablo was first raised in December by Frank Isola, the district's recreation director.

Since then, a citizens committee has been formed, a landscape architect's plans have been drawn and volunteer contributions in the form of labor and services have been offered by local persons and groups.

IN ASKING FOR approval of the diamonds, Dub Little, chairman of the citizens' committee, said the program is growing continuously and the single restricted baseball field at Miramonte High School is inadequate.

He listed a number of problems concerning the proposal, including the need for an access road. Little said access from Camino Pablo would be required because the fields are to be located at the south end of the property.

According to Little, the county would permit a road to be constructed in that location, but this would have to be included in the resolution.

The committee hopes to have the three diamonds — one large and two small—ready for use this summer, he stated.

HE ALSO CITED the existence of four large dynamite storage magazines 100 feet away from the school district property. He said the magazines belonged to the contractors employed on the East Bay Municipal Utility District's tunnel project.

Little explained that the contractors have indicated they will move the magazines if necessary, but school district officials said they will not contact the contractors, Stolte and Early, until after the matter is discussed with Hemmings.

Other items to be discussed at the special meeting are the district's insurance program and a request from Architect James Anderson to make a slight modification in the plans for the Wagner Ranch School No. 1.

Anderson submitted his proposal to the board Monday night, but trustees referred the question to the citizens' building committee for a week's study.

Anti-Litter Campaign Is Tomorrow

Orinda's "Clean Up Month" really gets rolling tomorrow—the first of three consecutive Saturdays which will be utilized in cleaning up the entire community.

The anti-litter campaign is sponsored by the following groups: The Orinda Chamber of Commerce, beautification committee, Orinda Association, Contra Costa County and The Sun.

From 9:30 a.m. to about noon tomorrow, these organizations and Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts from the community will direct their attentions to cleaning up Orinda's shopping areas. Boy Scouts will do the actual litter collection, while the Girl Scouts are cleaning the planter boxes, making litterbags and handing them out.

The county is sending an anti-litter truck, replete with signs, to collect the litter picked up by the volnnteers, who will be under the direction of Mrs. Paul Pollaczek.

Other items being taken care of by the county include provision of gunny sacks and red coats, Mrs. Pollaczek said.

The Orinda Lions Club, meanwhile, is providing a refreshments truck containing soft drinks and donuts to roam the anti-litter area and service the volunteers.

Orinda Thank You Notes And Famous People

Mrs. Andree's fourth grade decided to learn how to write a friendly letter correctly as a result of a discussion following the puppet show they had seen. They wanted to write letters to Mr. Tony Urbans thanking him for the puppet show and the slides of Fairyland that he presented. They will tell how much and why they liked the performance.

Mrs. Dochterman's third grade has been busy with research work in connection with the lives of famous men. Candy Seigle gave an excellent report and made a nice folder on the life of George Washington.

Chris Desmond concentrated on the life of Abraham Lincoln and prepared a very neat and valuable folder depicting the highlights of his life.

Geotty Chapple gave an excellent description and illustrative report on the life and inventions of Thomas Edison, Every child is working on reports of the life of his selected famous person. Many reports have already been given.

The class is also learning many things about life in Africa in comparison to ours. Nobody seems to care to leave his home in the good old U.S.A. to live in Africa!

Del Rey: Early Cultures

Mrs. Murray's second graders have fashioned a tri-dimensional mural titled "A Day in March." A jet plane jockeys with numerous kites for a vantage point from which to look down upon the flowering fields and verdant pastures of spring.

Wire coat hangers and discarded newspapers are being transformed into various animals native to the African savanna, as Mrs. Cunningham's third graders delve into their study of some of the more primitive of the world's cultures. Parents may receive requests for some strange, new pets.

Parents of Mr. Robertson's fifth graders had a chance to see and hear their children demonstrate some of their accomplishments for the year when his class held open house for their parents on Wednesday afternoon. The program was handled entirely by the children.

Inland Valley: Aztecs

When Mrs. Worthylake's fourth grade reached the period of Spanish explorations in "California Yesterday," Mr. Latner's room gave them a presentation on Aztec culture. Steven Harris was m.c. The following pupils gave talks, many of which were illustrated:

Cortes: Alberta Koch and Carol Patterson; religion: Joyce Baker, Susan Meyer and Linda Christiansen; temples: Susan Van Sicklen and Barbara Gould; Aztec battle technique: Bob Small and Cliff McCorkle; education: Kathy Montgomery and Kathy Fisher; number system: Greg White, Peter Mika and Jeff Williams; customs and dress: Jill Winters and Barbara Cattobia.

Mrs. Daltymple's sixth grade class is working on the construction of scale models of their own homes. Their process is to measure the homes, scale down to fit the paper and put the scale drawing onto graph paper. This will lead to the final project — the model home.

Glorietta: Conservation

Boys and girls in the fourth and fifth grades have been working very hard on Conservation Week posters. The theme of the poster contest, "Litterbugging." The winners will be announced next week.

Members of the traffic patrol looked very sporty all decked out in their new rain boots. The members of the squad are Lynn Kimbrough, Susan Smith, Christine Jones, Bob Mansonen, Danny Thor, Jim O'Brien, Geoff Hanley, Kevin Smith, Ed Hendricks and Greg Bedayn.

The fourth and fifth grade students have been invited to the Parents' Club meeting on March 16 to hear the American Field Service exchange students. They are the following, Sri Widiati Saebani from Jogjarkarta, Java, Indonesia, and Enrique Lopez-Bruno from Madrid, Spain. The Orinda returnees, Dave Dail from West Berlin, and Bob Newman from Italy will be special guests.

Pine Grove: Tax Forms

Mrs. Woods' seventh grade class — 34 out of a total of 38 students, attended the freshman — eighth grade A basketball game at Miramonte Friday afternoon.

Last Friday, March 4, Mr. Koch came into the class and talked about the history of fire and some of the cases. He did an experiment on showing how a house could easily catch on fire.

In Mr. Mahoney's eighth grade math class, students have just completed filling out 1959 income tax returns. Each student received a 1040 form and dittoed instruction sheets. Although exemptions were limited and certain itemized deductions were supplied, the applicants' name, address, occupation, employers, etc., were chosen by the students.

Some of the humorous names selected were Ima Chicken and I. M. Sloppy. Some occupations recorded were gravedigger, picture hanger and plumber's friend. Although several hours, school and home, were devoted to this activity, the knowledge gained will be invaluable in future years. From class discussions, one fact was evident. There is nothing more certain than "death and taxes."

A yearbook cover poster contest is being conducted. The winning poster will be used as the yearbook cover and decognition will be given inside the book. Pine Grove students keep their yearbooks always as they hold many happy memories for them.

A modern dance group has been formed at Pine Grove. Seventeen girls meet three times a week at 8:30 to practice "Cinderella" which will be presented this spring.

County Studies Sheriff's Fees

Means by which the collection of civil process fees by the sheriff and constables in the county will be explored soon by Contra Costa County officials.

Charles A. Hammond of the county administrator's office said enabling state legislation may be required to change the system, but he added that the county study all possibilities as soon as time permits.

He explained that recommendation regarding the system change will be submitted to the board of supervisors.

County Auditor Howard McNamer revealed that Sheriff Walter F. Young collected more in civil fees during 1959 than the amount of his salary for the same period.

ONE OF THE many prizes donated by Orinda merchants for winners of the Glorietta Parents Club Bridge Bonanza is wrapped by these members of the club. From the left are Mrs. Arthur Foss, ticket chairman; Mrs. George Talbot, publicity; Mrs. William E. Christiansen and Mrs. Hyzer Jones. The bridge competitions will be held March 22, 23 and 25 in various Glorietta area homes.

Orinda Attorney to Oppose Judge Rahn

A young Orinda attorney, Joseph R. Longacre Jr., 36, of 7 La Fond Lane, will be Mrs. Betsy FitzGerald Rahn's only opponent in the election of a Walnut Creek municipal district court judge.

What appeared to be a three-way race with Longacre and Lloyd E. Christiansen facing the incumbent, has resulted in a two-way contest with the disqualification of Christiansen.

Christiansen's intent to file was disqualified as his membership in the California Bar Association fell short of the required five years. He has been a practicing lawyer for 25 years, a member of an out of state bar association.

LONGACRE has been a resident of Contra Costa County since 1951, living first in Walnut Creek, then moving to Orinda in 1954.

Born in Berkeley, he was educated at the University of California and Hastings College of Law. His nine years of practice include three years of work with a trial firm and six years of private practice, with offices located in Orinda.

Completion of his studies was delayed by World War II at which time he served four years with the medical administrative corps of the Army in the CBI theater. He earned a field commission and was honorably discharged as a first lieutenant.

IN ADDITION to private practice, Longacre has served as an instructor at Golden Gate College and for the American Institute of Banking. He is a member of the board of directors of the Contra Costa County Bar Association.

Longacre's civic activities include serving on the Eagle Scout advancement board of the Mt. Diablo council, BSA, the board of directors of the Orinda Rotary Club, advance gifts committee of the Orinda United Crusade, and as first and past president of the citizens' education advisory study group for the Orinda schoolg group for the Orinda school board.

He also served on the finance committee of the central Contra Costa County sanitary district at the time of its last bond election.

Longacre and his wife, Nancy, have three boys age 10, 7, and 3, and a daughter age 9.

Jewish Center to Observe Purim in Special Services

The congregation of the Contra Costa Jewish Community Center, 3800 Mt. Diablo Boulevard, Lafayette, will celebrate Purim, the Jewish Feast of Lots, this weekend.

Purim, which begins at sunset tomorrow, is one of the two most joyous of Jewish festivals and commemorates an episode in ancient Persia when the Jews narrowly escaped massacre at the hands of the despot Haman.

HIS PLOT to purge the Jews was foiled by the courageous intervention of Queen Esther, the Jewish wife of King Ahasuerus, and her foster father, Mordecai.

The story of Purim is related in the Book of Esther, one of the most widely known books of the Bible. It is a jubiliant holiday, marked in the synagogues by songs and prayers of Thanksgiving and by reading the Book of Esther from a special scroll called the Megillah.

A Purim Carnival will be held at the center at 2 p.m. Sunday for all children in the religious school.

RABBI DAVID ROBINS will deliver a special sermon, "Think Not That Thou Shall Escape" during the regular Friday night service at 8:30 o'clock tonight. Cantor Henri Goldberg and the Center Mixed Choir will participate with special music arranged for the service. Ellen Kroff will be at the organ.

Tax Dollar Use Discussed Mon.

The Civic Affairs Committee of the Orinda Association will meet Monday at the Orinda School at 8 p.m.

Henry L. Morrison, executive secretary of the Contra Costa County Taxpayers Association, will discuss the allocation of the property tax dollar, with particular emphasis on the high tax costs of special tax districts.

Rotary President Tells First Umbrella Story

By CONNIE PIKE

A long time ago, before the Weimaraner came into fashion, status seekers held umbrellas to be the symbol of success.

We can thank the grandfather of Earl Cappel, 3366 McGraw Lane, Lafayette, for the bit of plastic waterproofed silk we hold over our heads on damp days.

A. Cappel, of Dayton, Ohio, was the first to manufacture umbrellas in the United States.

EARL, WHO WAS elected president of the Orinda Rotary Club at their luncheon meeting last week, said the family has been in business since the eighteen-seventies, when Grandfather Cappel arrived from Germany.

A turner, he immediately began making scrolls and other fancy wood pieces for the Barney & Smith Co. Barney & Smith was the Pullman company of its day, making and outfitting sleeping cars for the new-fangled railroad trains. Many Cappel scrolls looked down on sleeping travelers.

Before long however, Cappel turned to making umbrellas. Until then they had been imported from Europe and England. The first users were thought to be defying natural law in protecting themselves from rain.

But fashion had its way. Cappel took his first batch of domestic umbrellas and sold them in Springfield, some thirty miles away. He was in business.

BY THE TIME Earl came along in 1904, A. Cappel & Son was operating four leather goods stores in Ohio.

Earl attended Miami University in Oxford, Ohio, later joined the company, working in various parts of the country. He went to Washington in the first years of World War II, then served two years in the Air Force at Wright-Patterson Field in Dayton.

The company sent him to California in 1946 and eight years later he formed his own company, Cappel, Pera & Reid, Inc., advertising agents. It is located at 1A Northwood Drive, Orinda, and Earl serves as chairman of the board of directors.

It seems fitting that the grandson of America's first umbrella maker decided to settle in the Bay Area.

Kelly is the first St. Mary's College student to receive the coveted award.

A second senior, William T. Kiley, mathematics major from San Bruno, was given honorable mention by the foundation.

Kelly plans to enter the graduate school at Yale University next fall for advanced studies in philosophy.

Both Kelly and Kiley were nominated for an award by Brother S. Robert, F.S.C., Ph. D., professor of philoposy and world classics at St. Mary's. Under the rules of the Fellowship Foundation, students may not apply directly for the award—they must be nominated by a faculty member. The nomination itself is considered an academic honor.

During his undergradute years at St. Mary's he has served as president of Alpha Pi Gamma Upsilon, scholastic honor society; secretary of the Fourth Estate, journalism society; feature writer and columnist for the St. Mary's Collegian, bi-weekly newspaper.

Miramonte Launches Plans For Summer Program

Professional leaders in many fields of endeavor met at Miramonte High School Tuesday night to launch this year's CEC — the Career Exploration Course open to sophomores, juniors and seniors at the high school as part of the summer school program.

Pioneered here last year, the CEC experiment locally proved so successful that this year more students will be given a chance to "find themselves," and get summer school credit for it.

THROUGH THE cooperation of a Citizens' Advisory Committee and the Acalanes High School District, this year 50 selected Miramonte students will have a chance to actually experience jobs they think they might like to make their life work.

Reactor-Core Is 3-Year Achievement for Aerojet

A three-year project at San Ramon's Aerojet-General Nucleonics reached a climax this week with a happy announcement from the National Reactor Testing Station of the Atomic Energy Commission, in Idaho.

A reactor core, built into a new portable gas-cooled reactor, has been developed by a San Ramon team under Gustave Linenberger of Alamo.

It was trucked to the Idaho testing station, and there put through its paces.

STATION officials announced the reactor itself achieved "criticality" at 9:49 p.m., February 23, and this is the conclusion of the first step in developing for the U. S. Army a mobile nuclear power plant.

The local work, subcontracted from Aerojet's parent plant at Azuza, included design, development and manufacture of the reactor core.

The San Ramon plant was built early in 1956.

SAID OFFICIALS:

"The gas-cooled reactor experiment is water-moderated and nitrogen-cooled and will generate 2200 kilowatts of heat but no electricity.

"It was designed, built and is being operated for the Atomic Energy Commission by the Aerojet-General Corporation, Azusa, to test the first U. S. direct-and closed-cycle gas-cooled reactor system. Estimated cost of the facility is $4,500,000.

"In a direct-and closed-cycle gas-cooled reactor system, the gas, heated in the reactor core, is used to drive the turbine and is returned to the core.

"THIS UNIQUE system has been under development for nearly five years to meet the Army's requirements for a small mobile reactor and power conversion system.

"The operating plan for the experiment calls for several weeks of zero-power testing after which the reactor will be brought to full power.

"It will then be operated under various conditions to provide data for development of improved components.

"Criticality of the gas-cooled reactor experiment is a major step toward development of a prototype power plant to be known as the Mobile Low-Power Nuclear Power Plant No. 1 which is being developed by the Aerojet-General Corporation.

"IT WILL combine the direct-and closed-cycle gas-cooled reactor system with a gas turbine-driven power conversion system being developed by the Corps of Engineers in the gas turbine test facility at Fort Belvoir, Va.

"The prototype reactor will generate about 400 kilowatts of electricity and operate at least one year at full power before refueling.

"The entire power plant will be transportable in four packages totaling less than 38 tons. Either standard air force cargo aircraft or standard army low-bed trailers could be used to transport the packages.

Miramonte To Discuss Vocations

Miramonte High school will be the scene Monday evening of the second annual Miramonte career night, sponsored and presented by the Orinda Rotary Club. The regular Parents' Club meeting will begin one-half hour early, at 7:30 in the gymnasium.

Over 60 panelists and moderators, representing every major professional and vocational field, have been gathered into 15 basic panels to give students an opportunity to discover for themselves the realities of the work-a-day world.

Designed primarily for senior students who are required to attend as a requisite of their American Problems course, their parents are especially invited to participate with them in this interesting and provocative program. Attendance by other students and their parents is optional.

ROBESON E. SMITH, Rotary past president and general chairman of the event, offered only this word of caution, "Last year community acceptance of this program was tremendous. It has been especially scheduled to coincide with the regular monthly meeting night of the Miramonte Parents Club to enable more parents to attend. However, where room capacities are limited, senior students and their parents will be given preference. Several hundred additional students and parents can be accommodated and are most cordially invited to participate within space limitations."

The format of the program consists of the 15 panels running simultaneously in 15 different rooms. Each panel will hold three sessions to permit students to inquire into three different vocational pursuits. Each panel is composed of three panelists representing a specific field within their major classification, and a moderator from the Orinda Rotary Club.

THE PANELS operate on an open forum, "neighborly discussion" basis. After a three minute opening introduction of his vocation by each panelists, the session is thrown open to questions from the audience. The give and take of this sort of "audience participation" program often becomss vry stimulating, and the panelists enjoy it as much as the audience.

Many panelists are outstanding figures in their respective fields, brought together from communities throughout the Bay Area. Parents enjoy the program as much as the youngsters, and find it an excellent opportunity to delve into occupational fields in which their offspring are interested, but about which they know little.

A coffee hour at the conclusion of the last panel session enables participants to meet on a more personal basis with the panelists.

TITLES OF THE basic classifications are engineering, medicine and dentistry, scientific research, law and law enforcement, education, professional arts (architecture, commercial art, interior decoration), public media arts (journalism, advertising, television and radio), business administration, sales and marketing, governmental service, agriculture and forestry, secretarial and office (girls), professional career (girls, nursing, lab technician, dental hygienist), general career for girls (airline stewardess, modeling, department store), general career for boys (retail merchandising, mechanical and building crafts).

Membership Drive On For Or'nda Assoc.

The annual membership drive of the Orinda Association is now in full swing, according to co-chairmen Helen Haslam and Bruce Howard.

Directors of the Orinda Association completed distribution of membership forms and letters last weekend.

Bruce Howard commented, "Never in the history of the association has the total membership reached 1000 families, but never before has Orinda faced bigger decisions than the community's position toward rapid transit and utilization of Orinda Association property.

We want to feel that we have the support of our community in the form of a strong membership."

TULARE LAKE FLOODS

In the Tulare Lake Basin of the San Joaquin Valley, innundation of more than 300,000 acres resulted from the December 1955 floods, according to the State Department of Water Resources. Four feet of water in the Visalia business district caused heavy personal property loss. Despite this record flood, the Tulare Lake Basin is regarded today as one of the most water-deficient areas in the state, officials say.

Girl Scouts See Exotic Festival

World friendship! The Girl Scouts and Brownies of Orinda are working towards it, as can be seen from the following activities:

A Hina-Matsuri (or the Festival of Peach Blossoms) was celebrated at the Japanese Buddist Temple in Oakland on Girl Scout Sunday. Approximately 95 girls attended from Troops 130, 141, 297, 107, 156 and 224. Leaders and assistant leaders of these troops include Mesdames William Marshall, Russel Gilwee, J. V. Lucas, W. Patton, Lloyd Hecathorn, Alan Gray, J. Thompson, Hugh Reed, John Gilbert, Stanley Swanson, Stuart Henderson, M. Mitchell and William Lincoln.

The Hina-Matsuri is a Japanese ceremony for unmarried girls. At Sunday's festival, brush painting was demonstrated by Professor Mikami, and the Scouts visited doll, art and flower arranging exhibitions. Ancient dances as well as movies on modern Japan were demonstrated. The eventful excursion ended with the serving of Japanese tea and cakes.

The Robert Hart home in Orinda will be the scene of a true French dinner next Sunday. Troop 107, under the leadership of Mrs. Hugh Reed, is sponsoring the affair to help attain their World Neighbor badge.

Madame Jean-Paul Watteau, a young French woman, is assisting the Girl Scouts. With her aid, it can be assumed the meal will be of authentic French cuisine. Monsieur and Madame Watteau are living in Orinda at the Melvin Jacobus home this year while M. Watteau studies engineering at the University of California in Berkeley.

A dinner in Chinatown, San Francisco, was enjoyed by Brownie Troop 265 Tuesday. Mrs. Victor Smith is the troop leader, while Mrs. Roger Olson and Mrs. Joseph Eldridge are the assistant leaders.

New Orinda Librarian Vassar Grad

Appointment of Mrs. Elizabeth Faragoh as acting branch Librarian in the Orinda Library, effective March 1, is announced by Mrs. Bertha D. Hellum, Contra Costa County Librarian.

Mrs. Faragoh is a graduate of Vassar College and obtained her library credentials in 1957 from the University of California School of Librarianship. For the past 2½ years she has been on the staff of the Richmond Public Library.

Miss Mary Rupp, who has been serving as Orinda branch librarian since September 1959, resumes her position as bookmobile librarian. She is in charge of the county library's mobile library service from the two bookmobiles, which operate in the western and central-eastern areas of Contra Costa County.

Mrs. Sara Malinowsky, Orinda Librarian since 1955, is on leave of absence working for her professional library credentials at the University of California School of Librarianship.

Scouts Hear World Talk

Two Orinda Brownie troops celebrated International Month last week when they saw slides of Finland, shown by Brian Cartwright of Pine Grove School. Cartwright also told of his 1959 summer camp experiences, which he shared with young people from all over the world.

Mrs. Ross E. Van Dyke, leader of Troop 293, was in charge of the program, assisted by Mrs. Ralph Miners. Troop 293 had as special guests Brownies of Troop 213, and their leaders, the Mesdames Roy Clark, L. T. Atkins and Wesley Jackson.

County Auto Insurance Rate Is Increased

Contra Costa County, although still lowest in total premiums, is the only county in the state which was assigned a general boost for comprehensive automobile insurance, it was announced.

All the other counties either held steady or were reduced from $2 to $13.

Contra Costa's increase was $2 for "a popular-priced auto."

The "comprehensive" coverage includes fire, theft, wind, storm, flood, hail, glass breakage and non-collision risks. But it does not include public liability and property damage and collision coverage.

The Contra Costa driver with $10,000-$20,000 public liability and property damage, full comprehensive, and $100 deductible collision and with a $115.40 premium would compare with Oakland, $145.32; San Francisco, $196.56, and Alameda County outside Oakland, $118.36.

The Woof & Warp of it!

ONE of our bright young tykes, out driving w/his Dad, observed the butterfly-roofed house being built out Rheem Blvd. & wondered if the wood had been warped by rain . . . In other words, a wain-warped woof?

An observant 8 yr. old in another household discovered a typo-goof in the Golden Book Encyclopedia No. 6 . . . On the front cover of E-G volumne, it reads from "Erosion to Geysers". In the back index, it reads GEYERS . . .

THE SEVENTH Graders in Mr. Witt's class at L call their model skeleton "Elvis" but don't be as naive as we & ask why!

WHEN Safeway serves hot coffee & sells yellow jonquils, can Spring be really far behind?

POOR LITTLE SHEEP who have lost our way . . . WHEN a vitally-needed public health measure like fluoridation gets such a run-around (like everything else these days, it's Controversial!) . . . & if we can't believe our U.S. Public Health Dept., then WHERE do we go from Here?

For your benefit & for the benefit of the Future, make it a point to find out the facts (FACTS) yourself!

Baa, Baa, Black Sheep . . . When radio stations (esp. one who advertises its Menu of Good Taste) stoop to such lows as movie commercials plying the public w/just a small sampling of dialogue that sounds, standing alone, not only suggestive but misleading. Makes moola for the movies & foola of the public!

LITTLE Black Sheep who have gone astray . . . When family newspapers run their Movie Ads page sans censorship w/no thought to the families & kiddies who pour over them, word for word. Ugh!

Not ALL are Lost Sheep . . .

As one letter for a reader mentioned—"Take a look at the forthcoming movies in a recent Life mag & have a good upchuck w/me" . . .

Someone else: "They'll keep coming as long as there's an audience that keeps going. Me? I'm staying away!"

Here's another from one young lady (Sweet Sixteen & w/LOTS of sense): "The ONLY moral derived from ALL the movies of late seems to be that no matter WHAT you do, everything will turn out alright." But even the kids know better. At least MOST of 'em do! (If I were a young person in this day & age, I'd be inclined to think that something was very much the matter w/the Adult Contingent!)

DOOMED from here to eternity are we, unless we have the good sense that some of our youngsters do . . . Those teenagers who have applied a strict self-censorship of the latest movies & hold instead record parties on the usual Go-To-The-Show-night.

MAY THE LORD have pity on such as we . . . esp. when our high school is so pittance-conscious that unless a student's absence (attdg. the Winter Olympics) was falsified w/"flu", or some such VALID excuse (as suggested to note-sending parents by administration), the child had to take zeros for each class missed w/NO opportunity to make up the work.

THINGS have changed & from now on, it's up to the kids. When they miss out, they will be allowed to catch up on lost lessons, but it took the Squawks from the Squaw incidents to to finally change the ruling.

Back to the Rummage. If you haven't joined the daily scrimmage (shopping hours daily, Parish hall, 10-2 except except Tues.) you still have another week to go till March 19 when stuff is hauled form hall to town.

SOME OF THE items turned up—a pair of bamboo ski poles in excellent condition, a brand new electric shaver, a ticking travel clock, all sorts of duds for Dudes & Dolls & well, come up & join the fun. After all, the new dress your neighbor is wearing may have been your OWN!

EVA Parker & Thelma Harney dropping in to shop there last Thurs., both turned out to the teeth in flowers mit furs & bound for the Children's Hospital Easter Fair, but there they were poking in all their elegance through all the bricabrac. Said Eva holding up a trinket—"Well, what do you know . . . . THIS I gave someone for a present once!"

BETTY Williams making a purchase recognized it as a children's garment, one that HERS had outgrown & some she had gifted another friend for her child some years back. Now she was paying to buy it back. Some of the things will never get out of Orinda. Three years in a row we've seen the same child's coat back, STILL in good condition.

LEAVE IT TO JEAN! Jean Coty, the Lucky's clerk w/the continental manner, has a new gimmick for lifting the spirits of middle-aged matrons. If he thinks you're over 35 (& you've got liquor purchases in the cart) he straight-facedly & sooo seriously asks to see your driver's license. Oh, the flutterings! The ladies get flustered & think they're hearing things but seriously, he insists. It may throw you & I off balance a bit but at the end of a busy day, admit it! It works like a charm—a real psychological boost, doesn't it?

'Fatha' Hines Highlights Professional Assembly

By JULE NOLLER

The great Dixieland pianist Earl "Fatha" Hines and his all-stars appeared today in an assembly for the Miramonte student body. "Fatha" Hines and his band are famous in the Bay Area and throughout the country for their outstanding Dixieland style.

Coming up on April 26 is another professional assembly for the school starring folksingers "Joe and Eddy". These two singers are Berkeley High graduates who are famous for their rendition of "The Fox." They sing all of their numbers A Capella, which adds to the originality of their act.

Speaking of assemblies, several Miramonte students paid a visit to Piedmont High School Tuesday morning to present an exchange assembly for their student body. Starting off the program were the "Trinidads", consisting of Bob Davis, Rollin Mack and Charlie Blue. These three seniors sing folk songs to the accompaniment of a guitar, bongos and a "gut bucket".

Following the "Trinidads" came John Calderwood, who displayed his musical talent by playing selections on the piano. Straight from the Junior Assembly came Tina Cole and Tom Ferguson with their "Misterioso" dialogue. Ruth Thompson's theme song for the assembly was "I Cain't Say No," from the Broadway musical "Oklahoma." To end the assembly with a bang, Jeff Neighbor, Mario Guarneri, Don Minor and Bob Newman showed Piedmont what real jazz is, by presenting their arrangements of "Walkin' Shoes" and "The Preacher."

Bank of America awards were presented to Mi.. Miramonte seniors last week. The following students were chosen for the award by their teachers as being outstanding in their field: Mario Guarneri, music; Nadya Roegiers, art; Nancy Grah, social science; Michele Angelo, foreign language; Ruth Thompson, English; Terry Sheffer, lab science and Mickey Wilber, math.

Also seven seniors qualified for the California State Scholarship Contest. Nancy Grah, Hilary Brown, Bill Brown, Bob Newman, Ruth Thompson, Katy McQuaid and Al Nilmeir are the students who are now eligible to compete in the finals of the contest to try for a scholarship.

These semifinalists were chosen on the basis of their scores on the College Entrance Examination Board, and will now submit their high school transcripts for further competition.

Next summer promises to be exciting for junior girls, Natalie Hartanov and Priscilla Devin. These girls will tour Europe and Russia with high school and college students from the Oakland Y.M.C.A. This group of teenagers will tour most of the countries of Europe, including a three day horse back ride through the Austrian Alps and a possible climb up the Matterhorn. Highlighting the three month trip will be an extensive visit through Russia. Throughout the stay, the group will be living in youth hostelries and learning about the people of the various countries.

Barbara Thomas and Sharon Heller, two of the most active members of the Future Teacher's Club at Miramonte, presently are helping the teachers at the School for the Deaf in Berkeley. Each Tuesday afternoon, Barb and Sharon work with the 5, 6 and 7 year old deaf children during their recreation period.

Both girls find their are learning more themselves than the children are learning from them. Previously Barb and Sharon did student-teaching at Del Rey School. This has helped them in their present work with the handicapped children.

Dr. Dalby Lives the World of Music

By JEAN JERNIGAN

Composer, conductor and instructor, Dr. J. Philip Dalby of 9 Alder Street, Walnut Creek, is a dedicated musician who devotes much of his time to nurturing the musical talents of area youth.

Tonight, Dr. Dalby will conduct the first portion of the midseason music concert at the Miramonte gym, the first time that an area high school has invited a guest conductor to participate in the high school concert program.

Now an instructor in voice and theory at Diablo Valley College, Dr. Dalby has an impressive background of education, teaching and professional music activity.

WHEN ASKED if music had always been a part of his life, Dr. Dalby repiied, "Both my mother and my father were professional musicians and my brothers and I just naturally learned to play instruments and understand music at an early age. I started voice lessons when I was 17, first from my mother and then from others."

"Actually, I entered college as an art major where I was intensely interested in commercial art. However, I won a music scholarship my second year and began a more intensive study of music."

The intensive study led to his ultimate graduation from the University of Utah, U. S. Army Music School, San Diego State College with an A. B. degree, where his major was vocal music; M. S. degree, University of Utah with a major in composition; Doctor of Education degree, University of Oregon, with major in music education; in addition he studied with six private vocal teachers during a period that covered the years from 1937 to 1950.

MARRIED IN 1944 to the former Barbara Joyce Magnusson, Dr. Dalby has three sons and a daughter ages 15, 13, 10 and 7. He said, "We believe in encouraging their musical interests, however we do not push them. The boys are active in school bands, and our youngest likes to play the piano."

"If a child shows interest or talent in some field of music," Dr. Dalby added, "parents should certainly make musical instruction available to him. I do not believe a child should be pushed, but on the other hand, a parent is sometimes justified and obligated to do what he knows is best for the child."

Prior to coming to California, Dr. Dalby was associate professor of music education at Utah State University. "A combination of potential opportunities in this growing area, in addition to the fact we had been here before and liked it, led us to make the decision to return," he said.

DR. DALBY likes to work with young people, particularly from junior high age through college age. He remarked that students in this age group are quick to learn, that frequently those starting at 13 within a year are as skilled as those who started five or six years earlier, with the exception of the truly talented child.

Much of Dr. Dalby's work has been with bands; his Master Thesis is "Ten Commandments" composed for band and choir.

A youthful composer, Dr. Dalby has written several pieces, one of which will be presented by flute soloist Barbara Bergen at tonight's concert. It is called "Tarantella." Two other arrangements by Dr. Dalby will also be performed.

CURRENTLY Dr. Dalby is working on a Christmas Cantata, a composition for use at Our Saviour Lutheran Church in Lafayete. He is director of the Senior Choir of the church.

A member of Phi Delta Kappa, Music Educators National Conference, and clinician and consultant in music in Idaho, Nevada, Utah and Wyoming, elementary through high school, Dr. Dalby centers his life in the wonderful, stimulating fields of youth and music.

Bookwork Setting Stage For '61 County Budget

Within two weeks, the County Auditor's Department will have completed its estimates for the remaining expenses through June 30, ending the 1959-60 fiscal year, and the stage will be set for the preparation of the 1960-61 budget.

Frank Fernandez, asociated staff analyst for the Administrator's Office, said by April 15 the county department heads will have prepared their budget requirements for '60-61.

Those requests will be reviewed by the Administrator's office probably until about May 20.

PROBABLY during the week from May 23 to May 31, the supervisors, members of the administrators and auditor's departments ad department heads will hash over the "preliminary" figures.

The auditor controller will have the preliminary budget ready for the printer a few days later, and the preliminary document itself will be ready for circulation by June 30, when public hearings will be scheduled.

The final budget is adopted and the basic tax rate set usually in July or August.

The first installment on the tax is due in November and the second in December.

THE BASIC TAX rate this year is $2.16, but this goes to $2.28 for library services in the central county (Richmond has its own library system).

To this is added the school taxes, special district taxes and in Walnut Creek, the city tax.

The total in the central county runs from $8 to $10 per $100 assessed valuation.

The county collects the city taxes for Walnut Creek, Brentwod, El Cerrito and San Pablo.

THE SCHOOL YEAR 1958-59 is the most recent year for which complete figures are available at the Office of State Controller, according to a release from the County Taxpayers Association.

It indicates that the actual total revenues for the county operations alone during 1958-59 were $33,120,837.

This included $16,718,230 in property taxes.

The next largest revenue source was from subventions and grants — $12,883,063.

Total actual expenditures were $31,890,571.

CHARITIES AND corrections headed the list with $17,084,990 allocated, and "general government expenditures ran a poor second with $4,742,439.

The assessed valuation this year is $790,746,625, which is nearly seven per cent higher than the previous year.

Estimated population is 382,200 in the county area of 714 square miles.

Bonded indebtedness is $8,790,000.

THE TAXPAYER'S Association has also listed the salaries of county officials which are included in "General Government" expenses.

Highest paid is County Administrator J. P. O'Brien — $1750 per month, with the county medical officer close behind with $1706.

Others high on the list are the public works director and health officer — both $1547; superintendent of schools — $1268; district attorney — $1250; auditor-controller — $1255.

Phone Service Gets New Friends

Yellowstone 4-8381 continues to make new friends as those already enjoying this 24-hour service pass the word to others.

With a potential of over 38,000 subscribers who may dial toll-free any time of the day or night, this telephone ministry is used by individuals of various faiths.

Shut-ins at home in hospitals or sanitariums indicate enthusiastic acceptance. Some who enjoy their regular church home find this 58-second meditation, which is changed daily, a "spiritual vitamin capsule" during the week.

Whatever the individual situation or need it is the hope of the sponsoring Lafayette Covenant Church and its pastor, Bill Mays, that this unique ministry will prove a real blessing to all who dial in.

New Den Formed In Cub Pack 238

Lafayette Cub Scout Pack 238, under the leadership of Cubmaster Ed Youngman, held its annual Blue and Gold dinner recently in the auditorium of Stanley School.

Some 250 people attended the potluck dinner for families of the Cubs. Each den made decorations for its own table, with most interesting and attractive results.

After dinner, awards were presented and an excellent film on the California water supply was shown. Boy Scout George Tarleton was especially honored with an award for serving as den chief for Den 9.

A special event of the evening was the establishing of a new Lion-Webelos den for boys 10½ years old, who have earned their Lion badges. The new den will be under the direction of Don Waldman.

Take The Hunger Out Of Your Diet

Now at last, you don't have to feel hungry while dieting. If your present reducing plan leaves you "half starved" between meals, lacking the vitality you want and need, with feelings of mental and physical exhaustion...there's a new, easy-to-follow, low-calorie diet just for you!

Recommended by leading nutritionists, it ends the unpleasantness so often associated with dieting—and the discouraging tendency to regain lost weight. It even lets you enjoy many of the foods you like best. This new diet features a glass of whole milk at each meal . . . and provides the staying qualities that low-calorie reducing plans of the past have lacked.

The old approach was to lower the fat intake to a minimum and keep the carbohydrate level moderate. The new diet, however, is high in protein, moderate in fat and low in carbohydrates, reflecting latest nutritional thinking.

There is just no need for you to suffer through an unworkable reducing program. If you want to shed unwanted weight in a sensible, pleasant manner, write today for a free menu series that will enable you to lose up to two pounds a week. Just address East Bay Producers' Milk Council, 610 Sixteenth Street, Oakland 12, California.

Local Teachers Qualify For UC Radiation Lab

Three Walnut Creek School teachers have been accepted for the new high school (and junior high) teacher training program at the University of California's Lawrence radiation laboratory.

They are Eric Nelson, seventh grade mathematics teacher, Thomas Beard, seventh grade science, and Mrs. Allure Jefcoat, eighth grade science.

George Trauger, school principal, said he was "elated" that his school should have three qualifying teachers, and he believes that the local teachers are the first of the junior high group so named.

He added, "They are on Cloud 9!"

DURING THE eight-week course, beginning July 5, each of them will be given a ". . . specific assignment to one of the various physics, chemistry, mathematics or bio-chemistry research groups."

They will attend seminars and also meetings of the lab's research groups.

The course will allow only 20 students. They may be junior high school, high school or junior college teachers, specializing in physics, chemistry, mathematics or general science.

Nelson is an ex-Air Force navigator with 50 missions over Korea, and he is also working on his master's degree in semantics. He holds a captaincy in the Air Force Reserve.

HE GRADUATED from Glendale College in 1947 and University of California, Los Angeles, in 1949. He taught in Sequin, Tex., before coming to Walnut Creek.

Beard graduated from Western Kentucky State College, Bowling Green, Ky., in 1951, and the Southern Baptist Seminary, Louisville, Ky., in 1956 with a Bachelor of Theology Degree.

He was associate pastor of the Bethel Baptist Church, Concord, for three years, and is now pastor of the First Baptist Church, Port Chicago.

Mrs. Jefcoat graduated from Shasta College in 1955, attended Chico State College on a scholarship and graduated in 1957, did graduate work at the University of California.

SHE IS also looking towards collecting her master's degree in zoology at "Cal", and she claims special interest in the subjects of cytology, radiation biology and genetics.

All three teachers are married, and have children.

Boys, CYA-Bound, Get New Chances at Center

Five youths, the first contingent of an ultimate 60, now occupy the new Contra Counta County Boys' Rehabilitation Center, on which the county has pinned its hopes for a better future for teen-agers who have been in serious trouble.

The new installation near Byron is a treatment center for boys who could be committed to the California Youth Authority but who it is judged will benefit by remaining closer to their homes and communities and in a less restricted environment.

County probation officer John Davis described the center program as "half work and half school experience and, we hope, 100 per cent rehabilitation."

A FOUR-HOUR per day school will be operated by the Contra Costa County School Department. The studies will consist of one hour each of shop or craft and physical education and two hours of academic work.

"Each boy is also assigned to one of seven work groups—kitchen, building maintenance, garden, landscape, construction of farm," added Davis.

Davis has assigned two probation officers and two counselors to work with the boys, in addition to the superintendent, Cecil Lendrum.

County Superintendent Floyd Marchus has provided two teachers.

A WHO'S WHO of the staff follows:

Superintendent Lendrum, 32, resides with his wife and four children at 4920 Myrtle Drive, Concord. His previous experience consists of seven years as deputy probation officer and one year as unit supervisor.

After graduating from the University of California, Lendrum did graduate work in psychology and social welfare.

Arnold Evans, probation officer, is a Stockton resident and a graduate of College of the Pacific. He has had nine and one-half years of experience with mentally ill patients at the Stockton State Hospital. At 28 he is the father of three children.

AS THE OTHER probation officer, Eliot Callender has three years experience in counseling at Juvenile Hall. Also 28, Callender and his wife and two daughters reside at 19620 Forest Avenue, Castro Valley. He is a graduate of San Jose State College and a veteran of the Korean War.

Graduated with a degree in agriculture from Prairie View A&M Coillege, Texas, Gus T. Poole has been appointed counselor. He is a veteran of World War II and a former resident of Austin, Texas. Mr. and Mrs. Poole have two children.

Also a veteran of World War II, Bruce Williams of Concord continues the counselor duties he has had at Juvenile Hall for the past three and one-half years. He has attended the University of Minnesota and the University of California at both Davis and Berkeley and has worked as an accountant.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams and their three children reside at 2731 Westgate Court.

JOE DE MELLO, for five years a teacher at Juvenile Hall School, is the head teacher at the new center. He and his wife and three children also reside in Concord. De Mello graduated from the California College of Arts and Crafts in 1951 and has done graduate work at San Francisco and San Jose State Colleges. He is 33.

The second teacher at the school is Lestee Ceasar, 31, former high school teacher in El Campo, Texas, and Concord and a former news editor in Bakersfield. Ceasar is a graduate of Prairie View A&M College and is a veteran of World War II.

He and Mrs. Ceasar and two daughters will reside at 195 Odessa Avenue, Pittsburg.

Completing the staff at the center are probation clerk June Haskins and two cooks, Mrs. Norma Glass of Concord and Mrs. Eunice Keene of Antioch.

Scouts Scour Neighborhood

Boy Scout Troop 223 performed a good turn for its sponsor, the Happy Valley Improvement Association, on a recent Saturday by cleaning up the neighborhood roadside.

Bottles, papers and cans were picked up and disposed of, with all five patrols participating.

The Apaches, led by Jim Ingham, cleaned up Hidden Valley. Bruce Hardy's Blackfoot patrol and Peter Ries' Iroquois patrol scoured Upper Happy Valley Road, while the Navajos, under Steve Scott, and the Pueblos, led by Earl Peery, rid Lower Happy Valley Road of litter.

Some of the Scouts could not participate, since they were on an all-day 5-mile hike led by senior patrol leader,

Pack 38 Receives God and Country Award at Dinner

Cub Pack 38 received the God and Country service award at its Blue and Gold dinner held recently in the Lafayette School auditorium.

The local pack was one of four in the meridian district to receive the award, which indicates that every member of the pack fulfilled his Cub requirements during the last year. THE MEETING also featured a potluck dinner and the presentation of a group of humorous skits prepared by the pack dads.

Power Squadron Abhors Foolishness in Water

Power boat "drivers" bobbing along in the waters of the East Bay don't need licenses, but the number of accidents are relatively few, thanks in a large degree to the skilled instructors of the Diablo Power Squadron.

The squadron, which was formed last year by area residents who had been members of the Oakland Power Squadron, has been busily training 13 classes, including about 700 potential "skippers."

The "liberal arts" courses, emphasizing safety, lasted 13 weeks, and at the conclusion only a handful, perhaps 25, chose to join the squadron, thereby pledging to take the more complicated courses including seamanship, advanced piloting, junior navigation and navigation.

"Electives" include weather, sail, engine maintenance, electronics aids, instruction aids, and others. Each course is from three to four months long.

THE NEARLY 700 who are stopping with the basic course will merrily put to sea this summer, at least knowing the A-B-C's of power-boating.

Squadron Commander Del Proctor, who has been in the Oakland and Diablo Squadrons for seven years, is the only Diablo member to be rated as "navigator."

He said, "The Power squadron training program is a national one, and anyone who follows it through to the limit ends up with one year more celestial navigation than offered at Annapolis.

"We have found that people who have had no training don't enjoy their boats as much, and they are the first to get into trouble.

"BUT ALTHOUGH our squadron has only about 114 members, as instructors we teach many hundreds how to avoid the usual pitfalls. Anyone can enter the basic course, whether or not he or she is a boat owner."

Power squadron members hold their classes in Tracy, Antioch, Concord, and one has started in Lafayette.

PUPILS GET their instruction for free—since the instructors get nothing for their efforts, and the United States Power Squadrons organization furnishes much in the way of equipment and instruction aids.

YOU MUST KNOW what you're doing when you take a boat into the bay, and the Diablo Power Squadron classes teach just that! Here, Dave Madsen of Concord, at right, is among some 30 basic training students who is joining the squadron. Left to right: Warren Martens of Walnut Creek, squadron lieutenant, Del Proctor of Lafayette, squadron commander, Nils Wahlberg of Walnut Creek, instructor, and Madsen. A new piloting class (free) will start March 23 at Acalanes High.

Things Looking Up, But Much Remains To Be Done

We would like to commend Sheriff Walter Young and his department on the recent pinball raid on a local bar. Not that the incident itself was of any major importance, but the principal behind the arrests demonstrated an attitude toward law enforcement that is to be praised.

The law is, after all, the law, and deserves to be enforced. By enforcing the statutes, Sheriff Young indicates that he has a respect for his office and is dedicated to carrying out his duties as an elected officer of the county.

It is also to be noted that definite improvements have been made in the sheriff's office. These improvements have been made piecemeal, and it is difficult to evaluate the department improvement on the whole, but it is obvious that they do exist.

NEVERTHELESS, the Contra Costa Grand Jury this year made some recommendations which have yet to be carried out, and which we would like to see acted upon by the board of supervisors.

The primary recommendation — that an outside consultant be brought in to analyze the functions and effectiveness of the sheriff's office — has not been pursued.

The analysis by an outside authority need not necessarily be critical of the present operation. But it would certainly be helpful. The situation is analogous to a business firm which brings in a consultant to go over his operation and either approve operating systems or recommend changes and improvements.

If this were done, we would know exactly where we stand.

BUT SO FAR the board of supervisors has failed to act on the recommendation of the grand jury.

It should also be noted that nothing has come of the board's resolution to look into the sheriff's fee situation. Certainly a change in the county ordinance is required. What the sheriff is doing is perfectly legal, but the procedure is completely archaic as far as county government is concerned.

THIS CHANGE should have been made a long time ago. Admittedly, the sheriff, although he has responsibilites as great, or greater than most county officials, receives far less by way of salary.

But he is more than making that up at present through the fee-collection system.

Obviously, his salary should be increased and the fee system removed.

The situation in the sheriff's office is improving, but there remains much to be done.

And most of the action must be taken by the supervisors.

"Stewing about my job certainly wasn't worth this!"

Your future's not safe when your mind's off the road! Your eyes may be on the road but you won't see what's ahead unless your mind's there, too. How else can you anticipate other drivers' actions—react quickly yourself? Last year 37,000 people died in traffic accidents. Many might still be alive had they kept their minds as well as eyes on the road. Look ahead—see ahead—and live!

A Really Loaded Problem...

A gun is a dangerous weapon, no matter whether it shoots BBs, .22 shells or heavy-bore material.

Many people seem to forget this when they give their youngsters guns—or they forget to teach them the proper handling of a firearm. It is hard to tell which is worse.

The Sun carried a story last week describing how a youngster shot a neighbor's dog with a pellet gun . . . he had only intended to scare the animal.

We suspect that the youngster involved learned a lesson the hard way through this incident.

But the dog is dead.

UNFORTUNATELY, TOO, many local residents have had just cause for complaint when they started to relax in a nice, sunny patio only to be startled by the whine of a bullet overhead.

In a similar manner, residents have been startled to find spent bullets dropping into the yard.

We have not yet mentioned the senseless vandalism committed by irresponsible people with guns, either. Just ask your local school people how many windows they replace — windows that have been defaced by BB shots.

And many of our local merchants, not to mention homeowners, face the same problem.

WHAT IS THE ANSWER? Obviously guns should not be outlawed. It is a fine thing to teach a youngster how to shoot a gun. It is a skill that may stand him in good stead later in life.

It is equally responsible, however, to teach him a respect for firearms and a respect for other people's property and their rights.

To give a child a gun and expect him to have a grown-up's responsibility, when he has had no example or training, is just plain asking for trouble.

To assume that the youngster has the maturity to handle a gun, when in fact he has not, is also asking for trouble.

But obviously, this is occurring. Just look over the sheriff's blotter, or the police reports — or that hole in your neighbor's picture window, and you will know that this is true.

THIS IS NOT TO CONDEMN all youngsters, or all guns. It is the sad but true fact that there is always the irresponsible minority that causes trouble for the more responsible majority.

But when it becomes a problem of guns, it becomes serious.

That discipline and control of guns in the hands of children is a parental problem, is obvious.

Therefore it follows that when vandalism—or worse—occurs, it is equally a parents responsibility.

You might take a look around your neighborhood—around your own home. If the shoe fits, wear it.

Everything's Coming Up Shamrocks & Daffodils!

By MARIE MONAHAN

THE LUSTY lungs of March are heard . . . by every little bud & bird.

By children who can't WAIT for summer, by calliope & good green thumber.

FEBRUARY flew by so fast & here it's Springtime, March half-past. Key to vernal equinox, key to lilies, hollyhocks.

TIME for Shamrocks, pipes of clay
To celebrate St. Patrick's Day.

MARCH! You Irish Sons of Erin, with McNamara's Band a-blarin'—

Behave yourselves, lest you repeat, for we're embarked on days of Lent.

Meatless meals & cheese souffles. No desserts for forty days!

TIME of Spring & Time to sing—Kelly Green is EVERYTHING!

Find for me a four-leaf clover, while cows munch happily all over. Imagine how a cow must feel to find grass growing GREEN & real?)

Ah, tulips, daffodils in place, pansy with her happy face.

Weed or Seed, who'll win the race? Give the gophers merry chase!

ARBOR DAY & Girl Scout Week
Give a thought to new hat chic.
MARCH! It's raining Cats & Dogs
Moths & mice & polliwogs.

Button slicker, tug on boot. Hand me Gramp's old Bumbershoot!

THE IDES of March, the Skis to wax,
Eternal infernal Income Tax . . .

Outings, Scoutings, jump-rope, jacks. Legs feel warmer wearing slacks.

Runny noses, eyes are swollen . . . can it be Acacia pollen?
MARCH, the Lamb, the gentle sheep
Lilac blooms are still asleep
MARCH, the Lion's roaring noise
Brings together kites & boys.

BASEBALL soon they'll start to practice . . . (Pitch it HERE, not in the cactus!)

March month, host of great big Blow-Out
Some days are too cold to Go Out
March's dual personality, has us up a wind-tossed tree
First, bringing blossoms to delight us
Then March, the fickle, just to spite us
Inflicts upon us
LARYNGITIS . . . & children home with Tonsilitis!

Letters to The Editor

FLUORIDATION

Dear Editor:

No one is attempting to impose fluoridation on the public. The matter will be decided in June by a majority of the voters in the democratic tradition. Because the issue will be voted on it is important that the voting public know the facts.

Almost 25 years of scientific research have proved that fluoridation of the water supply is a safe, inexpensive method of reducing dental decay by as much of 65 per cent.

Some people oppose fluoridation for religious reasons. They are opposed to the entire medical profession and are attempting to impose their bias on the general public. Other individuals simply will not accept facts that have been tested and proven to be valid.

For the sake of our children's teeth we hope that they do not succeed in this attempt to defeat fluoridation, by trying to appeal to people's emotions rather than discussing the proven facts in the matter. We hope that this important public health measure of fluoridation will be passed in June by an informed electorate.

MR. AND MRS.
ROBERT LUTHY

THANK YOU

Dear Editor:

On behalf of the members of the Danville Junior Women's Club I wish to express our sincere thanks to you and The Sun for your cooperation in publishing the activities of our group these past months.

With so many groups requesting your time and newspaper space, we feel you do a fine job of overall coverage in this area.

Many thanks again.

MRS. RAYMOND L. NEFF

GENEROUS

Dear Editor:

Mt. Diablo District Juniors of the California Federation of Women's Clubs wish at this time to express their thanks to the staff of The Sun for press coverage you have so generously given to us during the past year.

All the Juniors in Diablo District and especially myself as district press chairman are most grateful to you for your help, cooperation and the enthusiastic support you have given the Junior clubs.

MRS. GROVENOR FOX.

FIRE DEPARTMENT

Dear Editor:

My wife, Florence, and I publicly extend our heartfelt thanks to the Lafayette Fire District for rescuing our youngest child, Douglas, 4, from being helplessly lodged over his head in a construction post-hole.

When I arrived home from a business day in San Francisco, I was greeted with a detailed account of what had gone on for a nerve-shattering 45 to 50 minutes before! Armed with a flashlight, I saw mute evidence of what might have been the scene of a disastrous event.

To the men of Station 4 who answered the call and worked with speed and efficiency; Assistant Chief Allen, Lt. Crossett, Eng. Crow; and to our many neighbors who gave assistance during the crisis, my wife, Florence, and I are most deeply grateful.

Dougal (to his friends) says thanks, too!

EDWARD L. McDONALD.

Under The Sun

Here's Why Editors Get Ulcers and Breakdowns!

By HERMAN SILVERMAN

Now and then an irate subscriber phones or writes—"Cancel my subscription because The Sun said such and such, to which I am opposed." Or the reader screams because we did not say such and such.

The protest usually pertains to an editorial stand taken by The Sun, such as, pro-flouridation, anti-gambling, pro-incorporation or annexation, questioning of actions of governmental officials, zoning, etc.

While we value each subscriber, we usually are not too concerned when one threatens to cancel his subscription. Why? Because we have learned that, if Mr. Smith is mad enough to cancel, he usually is so concerned that he will then buy a paper each week at the news-stand.

Ulcers and doubts . . .

Editors, however, are not made of steel—and no remarks! We have ulcers, nervous breakdowns — and doubts.

Letters and calls make me stop and think. They raise doubts in my mind: is our editorial page too strong? Should we really say what we think? Should we stick our noses in so many community problems, so often? Do we rock and sock too hard?

I arsked myself these questions just the other day. Today I read a discussion by John S. Knight, one of the nation's able publishers. And I've decided not to succumb to ulcers or a nervous breakdown. Read it and see what you think:

Knight outlined the role of newspapers in the future:

"Today—in competition with radio and television—newspapers must turn to the things it can do better than the electronic media.

Job of newspaper?

"Under this heading, I would list investigative reporting, the meaningful backgrounding of stories, greater use of maps and pictures to illustrate news stories and editorials and a dedication to PUBLIC SERVICE far beyond the plugs we hear on the air for good and worthy causes.

"This means," said Knight, "ceaseless auditing of government, purposeful investigation, clarifying public issues and EMPLOYING THE NEWSPAPER AS A CONSTRUCTIVE FORCE FOR COMMUNITY GROWTH AND DEVELOPMENT.

"A newspaper can, if it is so determined, serve as the conscience of the community and it ought to be just that.

"The newspaper of today," he said, is "this nation's most constructive force and infinitely more responsible than other printed or electronic media."

Where are fire eaters?

Knight also called for editors to restore "something of the personal journalism of an earlier era when the editor-owner had a closer relationship with his readers." On the subject of editors, Knight had this to say:

"Now I do not agree with 'Scotty' Reston (N. Y. Times) who told a meeting last fall that your editorial pages are a disgrace and that the only two voices rising above the singing commercial are those of Harry Golden and Harry Ashmore.

"I could cite to 'Scotty' many, many instances of editors who never hesitate to speak out boldly on public questions and often at considerable risk of their newspapers.

"But I would agree that too many editorial pages are dull and uninspired and read as if the editor was more interested in wordage than wisdom and wallop.

"In studying editorial pages, I get the impression that while the average editor feels he must be an authority on everything from the aardvark to Zachariah, he is so mild-mannered about it all that no reader gets mad enough to cancel his subscription.

The careful approach . . .

"This tepid and torpid approach to the grave questions of our time is hardly calculated to stimulate thought and thus does not serve the function for which editorial pages are intended.

"One might better devote this same space to cooking recipes and the Ann Landers-Van Buren sisters to tickle the palate or titillate the tired.

"In the time of my father and William Allen White, editors managed to work up considerable indignation content on their pages. Here's what Bill White said when he wrote that famous editorial, "What's the Matter with Kansas."

"'I got madder and madder as the Populists formed a sidewalk ring around me and gave me merry hell. So I broke out of the ring, went to the office and wrote, full of righteous wrath and emotional indignation boiling in me, this piece.'"

"Young Bill, then 28, lost a lot of subscribers. As he said, the devil was to pay and the old pitch hot. But the editorial brought him fame and the offer of a better job from Mark Hanna which Bill turned down by saying he wanted to run a newspaper and be his own particular kind of damned fool!

The comfortable way?

"My reference to Bill White is intended only to suggest that we have drifted a long way from the fire-eating, 'sockem-rockem' breed of editors to the comfortable conformists who are against sin and the Democratic party."

Well, that's what Mr. Knight has to say. What do you think?

The Staff Corner

Have Truck, Will Travel!

By DICK OSBORN

Misery loves company!

It depends, actually, on just how miserable you want to get, though, in your search for fellowship, companionship and jolly times.

It was raining earlier this week, as you may remember . . . in fact, it got pretty darn wet around my neck of the woods.

It was also a quiet afternoon—one of those times when you can stand before a window, master of all you survey, and listen to the weeds grow around you.

But no guilt complex involved . . . after all, you can't garden in the rain, can you?

MY WINDOW HAPPENS to overlook a beautiful panorama of hills, the largest of which is called Mt. Diablo. Totally unspoiled. Just a house or two to brighten the view.

Winding along the hillside below is a little dirt track, euphemistically called a road.

Stood pondering the view and noticed a nice, new Oldsmobile, swaying back and forth by the side of the dirt track. "Ha," I said to myself, "The darn fool has gone and gotten himself stuck in the mud."

Then, not having anything to do (and feeling the adventurous strains that run through Osborn blood come to life) I hopped into an old Nash I keep around for these purposes and slithered down the dirt track to the gentleman in distress.

REAL DISTRESS . . . up to his frame in goo. Offered to pull him out. But thought I was crazy. Pulled. Got nowhere. Backed up. Found myself stuck in the mud too.

But I wasn't as dumb as he was. I was only a block from home and could see my car. He came to house, called towtruck, and borrowed ride home from me.

Nice guy. We talked about foolish people who get stuck in mud, and found that we had run his picture in The Sun last summer. Binding friendship and all that.

Three hours later. Man shows up again, with towtruck. Can't get to his car from the other side, so tries it from my side. This means he has to pull my car out first.

Proceeds to do so. Towtruck operator has to pull towtruck out with winches. Steadfastly refuses to go back after poor gentleman's car.

NET RESULT. One car still stuck in mud. One car high and dry (mine) and one worried towtruck operator.

But it was far from a wasted afternoon. Had the opportunity to meet a real nice chap, who might just buy the hillside across the way for his seven kids and his horses.

Felt it all worthwhile as I washed off the mud in the shower and settled down before the fire with a nice cool glass of cough syrup.

Baldwin Opposes Veto Of Water Pollution Bill

Sixth District Congressman John Baldwin voted to override a presidential veto of H.R. Bill 3610, the water pollution bill.

He said this is the first time he has voted to override a presidential veto, and explained his reasons as follows:

". . . Water and stream pollution is one of the most serious problems facing the nation. In many areas the problems is getting worse rather than better.

"Our California Sixth District is in a geographical position where it suffers from the discharge of sewage or industrial waste into any tributary of the Sacramento or San Joaquin rivers.

"As you know, our district is in a central location where these two rivers join and come down into San Francisco Bay. I personally feel that every step possible must be taken to remove the pollution from these waters," Baldwin said.

He explained that the bill, which was not revived by the Congress, provided for an increase in federal grants for municipal sewage treatment plant construction from the present authorized level of $50 millions per year to $90 millions per year.

A proviso was that the federal grant could not exceed 30 per cent of the cost of any specific sewage treatment plant.

C.H.P. Warns Motorist to Dim Lights

Motorists who fail to lower their headlight beams when they should will get their full share of attention from California Highway Patrolmen, an announcement from CHP Commissioner Bradford M. Crittenden disclosed today.

"These people are a menace to highway safety and must be dealt with accordingly," Crittenden declared. "I am satisfied that illegal use of high beams contribute to many of the collisions that killed and injured so many persons on California's streets and highways last year."

The commissioner expressed the view that carelessness is the main reason for failure to dim lights. But he added he has experienced occasions in which he felt that the other driver had deliberately refused to lower his beams.

"Listen—there goes your whistling tea kettle . . ."

Ex-FBI Man Will Speak At Gathering

Malcolm M. Champlin, Oakland attorney, former special FBI agent and leader in the state and national American Legion, will discuss "Are Schools the Target of Communism?" before the 32nd District, California Congress of Parents and Teachers, Inc., at Nystrom School, Richmond, March 28.

The meeting will be open to members of units belonging to the seven PTA councils of the district and to the interested public.

Election of officers will start at 10 a.m. at a business meeting planned to be completed by 10:45 when the talk will be heard.

On the Lighter Side!

By LIZ FOLLIARD
CL 4-5387

Perhaps in the midst of all our various social and club activities these days, we should turn some of our thoughts to politics. It is going to be a mighty important year from a political standpoint and we would do well to keep informed.

Mrs. Fran Seaman, an active member of the Manager Unit of Mt. Diablo Therapy Center, is now the president of the Orinda Republican Womens Club. She announces two important events being presented by this enthusiastic group of Orinda women who now number over 500 dues paying members.

Republican Women Meet Thursday

Next Thursday there will be a most informative panel discussion conducted by four Republican authorities in Contra Costa County. The meeting will be at the Orinda Community Church Fellowship Hall at 10:00 a.m.

The panel is composed of Virla Krotz, vice-president of Northern California Republican Women, Jean Bates, chairman of the State Central Committee; Lindsey Spight, chairman of the Republican Finance Committee and Jack Podder, chairman of the County Central Committee.

The topic of the panel discussion is "Republican to Republican," and will clarify the relation of each level of political position to the voting public.

The second event of interest to be given by the Orinda Republican Women is one to mark down in your date calendar right now.

Mayor George Christopher is to be the featured speaker for the April meeting. He will have returned from his highly successful trip to Russia and will have a fascinating report to give us. This will be an evening meeting on April 21 and is open to EVERYONE.

Let's have a fine audience for Mayor Christopher that evening, at the Pine Grove School, Orinda.

Orindans Journey Abroad

We always manage to find some news of travelers to report. Now in far parts of the world are Mr. and Mrs. Fred Holmes of Orinda.

They left on February—by jet—destination Suva. Next stop was Auckland, where they arrived on the 13th. On the 16th Fred and Isis enplaned again, this time for New Zealand. Wellington and Christchurch are the stop-overs here and then they take off for Melbourne, Australia. Last port of call will be Sydney, Australia and then on home to the U. S. A. The Holmes expect to be back on April the 17th.

Also on the travel list is your reporter but just a short trip for her. Am flying up to Portland this Saturday to baby sit for the two grandchildren during their spring vacation.

Oregon school children have a spring vacation early in March instead of at Easter week as in California.

On Tuesday preceding the "Flamingo Floral Tea" at the Diablo Country Club a group gathered at Ina Bliesner's home, then went on for luncheon in the club dining room.

Invited were the Mesdames William McGuire, James Campbell, Don White, Arthur Lundbald, Bud Ong, Ernest Abbes, Carrol Peterson, Stanford Holmgren, Carson Magill and Stan McCaffrey.

One of the gayest and most popular parties held at the Orinda Country Club will take place next Saturday. This is the President's Ball and this year the members will be honoring Don Doten and his charming blonde wife, Pat. Don is beginning his third year as president of the club.

Several cocktail parties will precede the ball and among them is that being hostessed by Mr. and Mrs. Bud Ong who will have about 20 guests.

South Africa Subject of Lecture

Members of the Women's Guild of the Orinda Community Church had a rare treat on Tuesday, March 1. The speaker for the day was John Blaker Herod from Pleasant Hill. Mr. Herod spoke on South Africa, its people, customs, etc. and the missionary work being done there. He opened his lecture by playing some of the native music, including the National Anthem of the Zu Zu tribes.

Mr. Herod illustrated his talk with color slides which he made during his long stay in the South African countries.

St. Pat's Dance Tomorrow Night

Tomorrow evening, the sixth annual St. Patrick's Dance, sponsored by the Women's Club and the Holy Name Society of Pleasant Hill's Christ the King Catholic Church, will be held at the Concord Elk's Club.

Gordon Heche and his Orchestra will provide danceable music for a gala evening of festivities honoring the coming feast of Ireland's patron saint.

Green will be the "color of the evening", with sprinklings of shamrocks in abundance.

The theme this year will be a "gathering of the clan", according to Mrs. Paul Kilkenny, decorations chairman. The hall will be decorated with large and colorful heraldic shields of the ancient Irish clans.

Intermission entertainment will feature the popular Irish tenor, Patrick Mulholland.

General chairmen of the event are Mr. and Mrs. John Correia and Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Hennigan.

They are assisted by the Mesdames Kilkenny, James Brown, decorations; Kenneth Butterfield, Robert Roll, tickets; William Gaughen, refreshments; and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Torrenga, arrangements.

Tickets are still available by contacting Mrs. Butterfield at Yellowstone 4-7775, or limited number of tickets will be available at the door that evening.

Sorority Initiates

Karen Jeffries, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Jeffries of Lafayette, will be initiated into Omicron chapter of Alpha Gamma Delta on Sunday.

Tioga Guild Dates Fund Raising Round Up Dance

Members of Tioga Guild of Women's Auxiliary to John Muir Memorial Hospital consisting of 33 women from the Alamo, Danville, Diablo and San Ramon area of Contra Costa County, have announced the date for their "Tioga Round-Up".

The Round-up will be the one major fund-raising affair sponsored by Tioga Guild in their effort to help contribute toward the $15,000 pledge to the proposed hospital from Women's Auxiliary which will endow the nursery.

Theme of the Tioga Round-Up which will offer ballroom dancing and refreshments from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m., will be in the barn dance style. Dress will be informal.

Mrs. Frank Pigeon, Jr., of Danville who is vice president of this guild and Mrs. William Diehl of Danville are heading the committees as co-chairmen.

Van Nuys, Diablo, recording secretary; Mrs. John Becker, Danville, treasurer; Mrs. John Miller, Danville, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Marvin H. Daniels, Danville, membership chairman; and Mrs. Alfred Jones, Alamo, publicity chairman.

Reservations may be made with Mrs. Harper or Mrs. Stevens.

Plans Are Made For Flower Ball

"Flower Fantasy" is the name chosen for the annual Flower Ball to be held at the Castlewood Country Club on May 14 by the Contra Costa Medical Auxiliary.

Walter Rugh to Marry Inglewood Girl in May

A May wedding is in store for Walter Rugh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rugh of Walnut Creek.

Rugh will take as his bride Connie Helen Thenschel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eris K. Trenschel of Inglewood.

A graduate of Acalanes High School, Rugh attended Diablo Valley and Reedley colleges before joining the United States Navy. At present he is living in Inglewood while attending Northrop Institute of Technology where he is studying for his bachelor of science degree in aircraft maintenance engineering.

The wedding date has been set for May 1.

Mary Elma Bowman Wed At Double Ring Ceremony

A double ring ceremony at St. Stephens Episcopal Church of Orinda on February 6 united Mary Elma Bowman and Ronald J. Loar.

White tulips were on the altar before which Father Calavan officiated. Maidenhair fern was at the base of the altar.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and her sister, Barbara Bowman, served as maid of honor.

For her wedding, the bride wore a gown she designed and made from lace belonging to her great-grandmother. The Bretonne lace dress was fashioned with long sleeves, scoop neckline, cummerbund, with a skirt that flowed to a slight train.

She carried a bouquet of stephanotis, fleur de amour and butterfly orchids.

Bretonne lace appliqued to a cap with a silk net fingertip veil and a necklace of seed pearls completed her costume.

The maid of honor wore a gown of mint green taffeta with floating chiffon attached to the back neckline. She wore a matching veil and carried pink florabunda roses and pink carnations.

The bride's mother wore a turquoise silk dress with matching hat and shoes with a corsage of off-white cymbidium. The groom's mother chose a gown of champagne lace, sheath style, with matching hat and shoes. Her flowers were pale pink cymbidiums.

Stanley Read of Berkeley was the best man, with Stanley Loar, Robert Kenneston, Jon Peterson, and Richard Mauler serving as ushers.

After a Carmel honeymoon, the newlyweds will be at home in Berkeley.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bowman of Orinda, the bride attended Acalanes High School and the University of California at Davis. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Loar of Tulare and attended the University of California at Davis and Berkeley, majoring in civil engineering.

A reception for the bridal pair was held in the Hill Memorial Hall of St. Stephens immediately following the ceremony. Sprays of quince and magnolia were placed behind the receiving line, while bouquets of spring flowers decorated the bride's table.

Rita Kingham Will Marry Rick Burkholder

The engagement of Rita Kingham to Rick Burkholder was revealed recently to members of the family.

Rita is a senior at Miramonte High School and the daughter of Mrs. Lois Kingham of 45 Charles Hill Circle, Orinda.

Her fiance is the son of Bernard Burkholder of 105 Marshall Drive. He is a graduate of Las Lomas High School and currently employed in San Leandro.

Meet Mrs. E. P. Lazzereschi...

She Employs Nature to Create Works of Art

NATURE SUPPLIES the materials Mrs. E. P. Lazzareschi uses in her decorative creations. Much of what she uses grows on 12 acre ranch in Walnut Creek, named Diablo Vista Rancho.—Sun Photo by Bob Rush.

By JEAN JERNIGAN

Nestled in a pine grove atop a hill, Diablo Vista Rancho is the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Lazzareschi of Walnut Creek.

The 12 rolling acres of ranch land, beautifully endowed by nature with varied types of trees and foliage, play an important part in the life of Mrs. Lazzareschi who is known for her talent to decorate, using only natural materials.

As a student at Holy Names College, Mrs. Lazzareschi studied general art, gradually branching out to decorative art. "After college," she remarked, "I really got started through a member of the family, who helped me obtain my first decoratitve work doing store windows."

"DURING THE FALL," she said, "I use to roam the hills of East Oakland gathering natural foliage to use in the windows. I decorated store windows along Grand Avenue and Lakeshore, and never used any commercial materjal."

Mrs. Lazzareschi met her husband at an adult class at Oakland High School, soon after she finished college. She said, "I'm always taking courses, I never seem to be satisfied with myself, and at that time I was interested in languages. I met my husband in Spanish class."

The Lazzareschis purchased their ranch in 1946, but did not move to Walnut Creek until 1949. She first became interested in volunteer work where her decorating talent could be put to good use when her son, Albert, now 17, was a cub scout.

Working first with a den, and then as chairman of the Boy Scout Exposition at Acalanes High School, people soon became aware of Mrs. Lazzareschi's ingenuity in using natural resources for exhibits and decorative pieces.

INVITED TO BECOME a member of the Flamingo Unit, serving the Mt. Diablo Therapy Center, Mrs. Lazzareschi has become widely known in the area for her creative decorative art at Unit events. Her most recent accomplishments were seen at the Christmas Fair and at last week's Floral Tea and Fashion Show.

Much of her material now, comes directly from the ranch, "I use areola leaves as a basic foliage very often, and from our avocado tree I pick leaves and paint them white. At Christmas time this is very appropriate for they closely resemble poinsettia leaves.

"We have 80 Monterey pines, laurel, Italian spruce, English holly which I also use in season. Then too, I find the shiny leaves from the lemon trees are convenient to use," she explained.

MRS. LAZZARESCHI has studied at the University of California Extension, with the Oakiand Art Museum, and other adult classes. She said, however, that experience in decorating is still the best teacher, that one learns by doing.

Always looking for new horizons, Mrs. Lazzareschi is now interested in water colors. She said, "I would like to master a new field and believe that this time my choice will be working with water colors."

Life is full and happy for the Lazzareschis. As a family they delight in summers and vacations spent at their home at Carnelian Bay, Lake Tahoe. "Water skiing, fishing, anything to do with sports and we're happy," she remarked.

THREE MONTHS before the family leaves for Tahoe they enjoy gardening at their ranch. Anything from decorative flowers to vegetables grows under her green thumb.

Race horses once roamed the pasture lands, but in recent years the family has had just one horse, Sparky, who is now 20 and more or less at leisure.

Weekends at Reno or Las Vegas in winter, barbecues and swim parties at home in warmer weather, complete the happy days for the Lazzareschis.

Their most recent trip was to Squaw Valley. Describing their wonderful time at the Olympics, Mrs. Lazzareschi said, "It was lovely, the most amazing thing was to see all the victory flags flying against the white snow. The colors were glorious."

FLAMINGO MEMBERS met recently at the home of Mrs. Frank Fink to discuss final plans for the Unit's Floral Tea and Fashion Show to be given at the Diablo Country Club on March 8, 1:30 to 4 p.m. Mrs. Harry Akers and Mrs. Eugene Ingalls (standing) are on the refreshment committee and Mrs. Fink, right, is chairman of decorations.

Unusual Programs Planned By W.C. Women's Club

Several unusual programs make the month of March an especially interesting one for members of the Women's Club of Walnut Creek.

The ritual of preparing and serving coffee in a native home in Saudi Arabia, a display of silk costumes beautifully embroidered with gold thread, and the experiences of an American housewife who lived for 12 years among the Arabie people, highlighted the March meeting of the current events section.

The speaker, Mrs. Samuel Meyer, presented frankincense myrrh to those who attended. Mrs. Richard Losh, section chairman, arranged the program.

The Bible section, which met in the afternoon of the same day, had a member participation program, with the reading and discussion of favorite psalms and proverbs. Mrs. Earl Luce presided.

A just-for-fun evening for members and their husbands, last Saturday, included a pot luck supper and whist. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Winfree were in charge of the event.

Tuesday morning, the book section, under the direction of Mrs. David Welch, heard a book review of the novel "Land and Milk Omelet," by Ken Kraft. Mrs. Orin Boslar, California state chairman of libraries, presented the program. Mrs. Ernest Holman, chairman of the art and garden section, arranged for members to visit the Peshon rug cleaning establishment in Walnut Creek and hear a lecture, "Everything You Need to Know About Rugs."

The program at the luncheon meeting March 22 will feature Dr. Harold Bryant, whose lecture intriguingly entitled, "Serendipity," has clubwomen scurrying to their dictionaries.

Mrs. Sherman Camp, program chairman, announced that the talk will explain how, in searching vainly for one thing, a person is likely to find something much more valuable.

Reservations for this meeting are being taken by Mrs. Ray Rosel. Mrs. Fred Hartley is in charge of the luncheon.

Alamo Mothers' Club to Present Fashion Luncheon

A luncheon fashion show will be presented by the Alamo Mothers' Club on Wednesday at the Castlewood Country Club.

Fashions will be from The Clothes Horse of Walnut Creek. Mrs. Donald Huovinen, president, said that proceeds from the affair will be used to provide audio equipment, reference books and or playground equipment not provided by state funds.

An attendance of 800 is expected at the affair, which is called, "In a Temple Garden." The decorations will be oriental.

Mrs. Lloyd Kelly is chairman, assisted by Mrs. Saul A. Aarons. Mrs. Q. H. McIntyre is decorations chairman.

Chairman of models, who will also model, is Mrs. Wayne Schlosser. Others modeling are the Mesdames William Anderson, George Barton, Robert Brown, Wallace Cook, Henry Evans, Charles Fallon Hansen, Lawrence Hudson, Thomas Klaus, Robert Lehman, Robert Meirdierks, Charles Stahl, Kenneth Street and Louis Todd.

For tickets or reservations contact either Mrs. El Westlund or Mrs. John Pease.

Following the customary dessert and opening patriotic ritual the meeting will be devoted to business matters, according to Norma L. Warner, secretary.

On the agenda are reports from committee heads, the naming of a nominating committee, plans for the remaining three meetings of the year and instructions to Mrs. Herbert V. Brooke, who will represent the chapter at the state conference in Los Angeles March 15 to 18.

Mrs. Brooke will visit her daughter, Mrs. Donald B. Aird, in the southern city where the latter's husband, well known in Bay Area music circles, is a graduate student at USC working for his doctorate in music.

Mrs. Hart Is Chairman for Cancer Drive

Mrs. Charles Hart of 35 Bishop Lane, Walnut Creek, was appointed 1960 Cancer Crusade chairman for her community by Jack K. Chapman of Alamo, county chairman for the American Cancer Society's annual April campaign.

Mrs. Hart is well known for her service to many community projects in the area, while her husband, Dr. Charles Hart is a vice president and member of the executive board of the Contra Costa cancer society.

"We sense an opportunity this year to make important progress against cancer by carrying facts of the disease into more Walnut Creek homes than was possible in previous years," Mrs. Hart said.

She said as volunteers visit each home seeking funds, they at the same time leave vital cancer facts.

"In the process of raising more money for support of the American Cancer Society's programs of research, education and service to cancer patients, we intend also to make a civic contribution of our own by calling to everyone's attention some simple life-saving facts about the disease," Mrs. Hart said.

She said her public information area chairman during the April campaign will be Mrs. Frank E. Thomas, 200 Summit Road.

CALIFORNIA FLOODS

Within this century, northern California has experienced four great floods, the last being in December 1955. Although the 1955 flood was the worst in recorded history, severe damage was caused by those in 1907, 1938 and 1950, according ot the State Department of Water Resources. The greatest of all northern water problems could be sizably reduced through adequate flood control facilities such as those authorized by the State Feather River Project, officials say.

LUNG CANCER

A long-term study conducted jointly by the American Cancer Society and the Philadelphia Tuberculosis and Health Association indicates that the incidence of lung cancer now is twice as great among middle-aged men as tuberculosis. TB, once a leading killer, can be cured or controlled in most cases whereas cancer cannot.

Resources Developed

Water resources in the urbanized San Francisco Bay area now are fully developed, says the state department of Water Resources.

Additional works proposed under the California Water Plan would result in considerable further flood control accomplishments, officials say.

American Cancer Society researchers at the University of Chicago have shown that a drug, given in the diet, substantially slowed down the growth of rat cancers without any observable bad effects. However, the potential effectiveness of the drug against human cancer is not yet known.

Diamond Leads Danville Cage In Seventh Week

Diamond Building Materials led the Danville Basketball League with a 5 and 0 record as the seventh week of play got under way this week.

Diamond took over undisputed possession of first place by winning convincingly against two of the league's strongest teams last week. They defeated the Valley Pioneers five last Wednesday, 65-54, and came back the next night to whip the Shoe Stable, 70-59.

BOB GOMEZ, former Las Lomas athlete, was the big gun both nights scoring-wise. He racked up 26 points against Pioneer and 22 against the Shoe Stable. He was hot on the free throw lines both nights, scoring 12 out of 18 efforts against Pioneer and 6 out of 8 tries against the Stable.

Will Strong of Pioneer scored 19 points before fouling out.

The Diamond - Pioneer affair was a makeup game, postponed from an earlier date. Dick Dickson was strong on the boards for Diamond the first night, but blisters on his feet prevented his performing up to his potential the following night.

IN A FAMILY feud, Aerojet No. 1 defeated Aerojet No. 2 in the second part of a doubleheader Tuesday night, 46-38. Bill Lloyd came through with 29 points for the winners and Monte Paler with 13 for the losers. A large percentage of Lloyd's shots were from the outside.

Yankee Sport Shop opened last week's play by defeating Nike Base, 65-53. Nike made a contest of it during the first half and trailed by only one point at the end, 19-20. Eric Kehlner, who did not start start, came in and helped put out the fire with 19 markers. Larry Drummond, former Las Lomas player, was second high point man for the winners with 14. Kenneth Juhl with 12 and Michael Dellacourt with 11 led for the losers.

Nike personnel were on maneuvers this week and their scheduled game with Pioneer was put over until next week. Shoe Stavle vs. Yankee and Aerojet No. 1 vs. Diamond were the other two games on tap.

HERE ARE the week's standings:

Team—	W	L
Diamond	5	0
Pioneer	4	1
Yankee	4	1
Shoe Stable	2	2
Aerojet No. 1	2	4
Nike Base	1	4

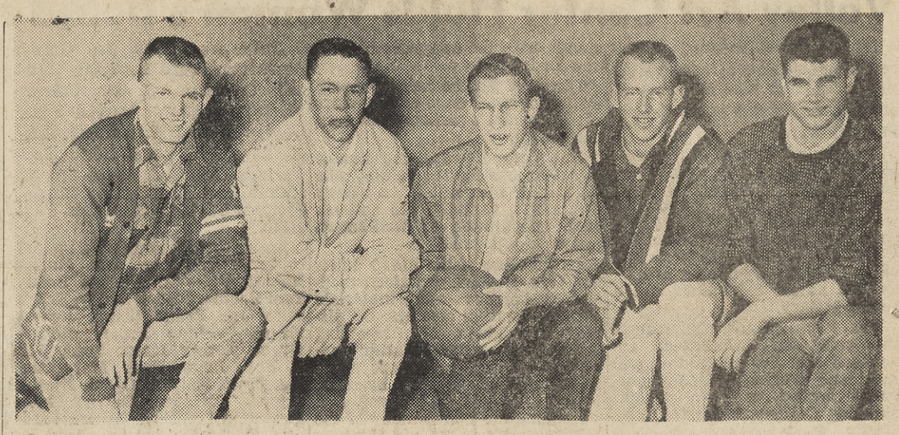
Ram Swimmers Beat Martinez

The Pleasant Hill varsity swimmers defeated Alhambra High of Martinez 49-46, while the Bees won 50-27.

The meet held at the Martinez pool last Friday afternoon found the Ram varsity winning seven firsts to Alhambra's four.

Mike Collins of Alhambra was a two-event winner, taking the 50-yard free style (23.8) and the 100-yard free style (54.9).

The Rams had a pair of two-time winners in Rich Wisshack, who copped a first in the 100-yard butterfly (1:09.3) and the 200-yard individual medley (2:30.3), while Bud Murphy won the 400-yard free style (5:07.1) and the 200-yard free style (2:19.9).



THESE FIVE prep basketball players last week were named the best of the lot in the Foothill Division of the Diablo Valley Athletic League as the coaches' annual all-league team was announced. The first string all-star squad includes, from left to right, Paul Colin of Acalanes, Bill Caldwell of Miramonte, Rick Prestwood of Piedmont, Tom Nichols of Las Lomas and Wayne Forsell of San Ramon. Oddly enough, each of the league's five teams placed one man on the squad.

Knights, Dons Finish High In Cage Tourneys

Las Lomas Five Wins Tracy Play;

Coach Merrill Callow and his Las Lomas Knights did themselves proud last weekend when they copped first place in the tenth annual Tracy Lions Club invitational tournament.

John Swett of Crockett, the only other entrant from the DVAL, wound up in fourth place.

THE KNIGHTS went through the elimination play undefeated and won their way into the finals with a 54-39 win over John Swett.

The final game with Turlock's highly rated quintet was a thriller and went down to the wire with the Knights "picking up all the marbles" as they won 44-42 in the grand finale.

Turlock led 11-9 at the quarter and held a 25-17 halftime advantage. The Lomas five surged back in the third quarter to come within two points of the Melon City five, 32-30, and then put on a whirlwind finish to outscore Turlock 14-10 in the final quarter.

IT WAS KNOTTED at 40-all with seconds to go when the Knights' Tom Nichols and Bob Nye each made good on a pair of free throws. In the closing seconds Turlock made it 44-42 with a field goal, but it was all over when the buzzer sounded before any further scoring was done.

Nichols and Nye paced the winners with 13 points each, while Turlock's Gordon Freeman wound up with top honors with 14.

Six players were placed on the all tournament team, Las Lomas landing two spots and John Swett one.

LAS LOMAS placed Tom Nichols and Bob Nye, John Swett had Willie Lightfoot, Turlock Bob Kelley, Edison High had S. T. Saffold, and Ceres landed Dick Davey.

The Knights in addition to individual awards brought home a large first-place trophy.

STATE

California has a deficiency in developed water supply, both surface and underground, amounting to some five million acre-feet per year, says the State Department of Water Resources. A severe drought, on top of present deficiencies in water supply development, could create widespread havoc and economic disaster in the state, warns the department.

Acalanes In Third Place At Chico

Coach Dan Gliver and his Acalanes basketball squad wound up the 1959-60 hoop season by placing third in the Acker tournament held in Chico last weekend.

The Dons, playing two games a night on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, wound up with five wins and one loss to get a plus 21 total. Scoring is based on the points scored minus the points scored against a club.

Acalanes defeated Chico 26-23, Oroville 40-34, Shasta 33-31, Red Bluff 37-19 and El Camino 36-35. Yreka, which won the meet with a plus 47, gave the Dons their only loss, 33-24.

El Camino wound up second with a plus 29.

Shasta was fourth with -4, Chico fifth -9, Oroville sixth -21 and Red Bluff last with -58. The Acalanes team placed two men, Mel Simpson and Paul Colin, on the 10-man all tournament team.

Two sets of color photo slides, showing camping facilities of Mt. Diablo Boy Scout Council, have been provided each district camping committee, according to David Calfee of Richmond, council chairman.

These are available and are being used to show troops and explorer units what is available at Camp Wolfeboro, Camp Lindblad, Camp Herms, Camp Bray, and in summer cruises with the Sea Explorers.

Scoutmasters may call their district executive to reserve the slides for their meetings.

The camping committee held its regular meeting Wednesday at the Boy Scout Service Center, 2040 Fourth Street, Berkeley.

Chairman Calfee asked members of the committee to report summer plans of each troop in their respective districts.

Pleasant Hill Wins 3-Way Meet In Track Debut

The Miramonte Matadors hosted a three-way track meet last Friday with Pleasant Hill and Antioch furnishing the opposition.

The Pleasant Hill Rams won the varsity competition with 78 points to Antioch's 33 and Miramonte's 31.

SOME TOP performances were turned in, particularly in view of the fact that it was the season's opener and conditions were anything but tops with a damp track and a cold day.

The Rams' Tom Webb turned in a fast 100 when he was caught at 10.2. Webb, last year's county champ, looks to be a repeater in this year's meet.

Teammate Roger Foulk was a two-time winner as he took the discus event at 141-3 and won the shot at 47-8.

MIRAMONTE'S Jeff Neighbor was a big point getter with a first in the 880 with a good time of 21.01.9 and then took the 220 at 23.8.

In the Bee meet the Rams took top honors with 83½ points to Antioch's 46½ and Miramonte's 20.

Jim Stephenson of Pleasant Hill was the only double winner as he ran off with the 70-yard high hurdles in 9.7 and the 120-yard lows in 14.8.

Did High School Help? Graduates To Be Polled

About 11,000 questionnaires will be mailed within the next few weeks, polling Contra Costa County high school graduates on how well they feel their high school courses and counseling prepared them for college or jobs.

The distribution of the questionnaires is the initial step in a $26,500, five-year project financed jointly by the county's high school and unified districts, the County Schools Department, and the National Defense Education Act.

Ultimately 38,000 former students will be polled — some of them two or three times in order to learn if their ideas change as time passes.

This year the questionnaire is being mailed to graduates of the classes of 1955, 1957 and 1959. Next year the classes of 1956, 1958 and 1960 will be surveyed.

There is no way of predicting how many graduates will complete and return the printed questionnaire, said Roy Andreen, county school consultant in secondary education.

He added that each high school will encourage its graduates to respond, and this year's senior students will be requested to fill out the first part of the questionnaire in the belief they will be stimulated to complete the form when their turn comes.

Each high school in the county will mail questionnaires to its own graduates, for return to the school. The mass of questionnaires will then be pooled in the county office for IBM analysis between mid-March and mid-April.

From the results, explained Andreen, the schools hope to evaluate their curriculum and counseling and make whatever changes may be indicated.

Baseball Practice Games Scheduled

RAIN DAMPENED the fields throughout the area early this week, but prep baseballers weren't disillusioned, as this photo shows. Miramonte's varsity nine was forced into the gym for workouts by the inclement weather, and here Vic Clarke (left) places a fake baseball on a tee to allow Randy Thaman to practice his batting form. Knights Open Season By Defeating Bulldogs, 2-0

The Las Lomas Knights won their season opener last Tuesday afternoon when they outscored the visiting Bulldogs of Alhambra High, 2-0.

Knight coach Duane Louis had a look at his squad as he cleared the bench while using 21 players in the seven inning game.

The Knights scored their first run in the opening frame when they made the most of a single, a walk and a pair of Alhambra errors.

BOB MORRIS STARTED it with a single and went to second on a sacrifice bunt by Randy Kennedy. Larry Elliot hit a ground ball to short and all hands were safe on an error. Seconds later Morris scored when another blow to shortstop by Bruce Lewis was booted.

Alhambra tied it up with a run in the second when two down, Bob Woodsen drew a base on balls, went to second as Mike Cerri walked and then came home as Al Rooney doubled.

It was scoreless ball for the next four frames and it wasn't until the bottom of the seventh that the Knights iced it after two were down.

WITH ONE DOWN in the frame Eric Hinge drew a walk as did Harold Stephenson. Bill Remy struck out and then with two down Jim Murphy lofted the ball to shore center which was dropped by the Alhambra shortstop and it was the ball game as Hinge scored on the ball.

Las Lomas wound up with 2 runs, 2 hits and committed 2 errors to Alhambra's 1 run, 1 hit and 3 errors.

Batteries: Alhambra—Rooney, Nelson (6) and Quantanatteo, Martin (5). Las Lomas: Just, Diel (4), Remy (7) and Clark, Stephenson (4).

Ram Nine Wins Opening Game Over Miramonte

The Pleasant Hill Rams were off to a flying start in the baseball season last week when they posted a 13-2 win over the Miramonte Matadors.

The Rams jumped to a big lead in the top half of the first when they converted three hits, six walks and five errors into 11 runs.

The visiting Rams added another pair of tallies in the third frame while Miramonte's lone run came in the first when Pete Yedidia rapped out a single and crossed home plate on Brad Peter's single.

That rounded out the afternoon's scoring as the Rams collected seven hits to Miramonte's three. The Mats committed six errors to the Rams' three.

Batteries: Pleasant Hill: Beardsley, Juariz (4), Khrshi (6) and Howerton, Vandered (4).

Miramonte: Tonascia, Feldman (1), Hancock and Hilger.

1955 FLOODS

Studies indicate that if Oroville Dam on the Feather River had been in operation during the disastrous northern California floods of December 1955, the river could have been controlled to a safe flow, according to the State Department of Water Resources. Adequate storage on the Feather River alone would have prevented the major disaster in Sutter County, officials say, where damages have been estimated at $65 million.

New Height Measurements In Prep Track, Swimming

By ERWIN MATTSON

Last week was weigh-in time for the Bees as far as track and swimming were concerned. Bees, or lightweights as they are sometimes called, can sometimes be pretty big providing they are young in years and months.

Clasification is based on three factors which are age, height and weight. Exponents are given for each in accordance with a chart which has been drawn up by the California Interscholastic Federation.

FOR EXAMPLE, suppose his age, which is taken as of March 1 for spring sports, gives him 29 exponents, his height 30 and his weight 28. That would give him a grand total of 87, which means he is classified as a Bee. Eighty-seven and under is Bee and anything over an A, or to use the more common term, varsity.

This year for the first time in the Foothill Division, the height was taken lying down, and as a result several border cases couldn't make Bees.

It is a method that has been used in other areas and is a far better means of getting true height. Some don't make it this way, but true classification is the purpose of the program—to place a boy in the classification where he belongs.

NO MATTER what system is used there will always be borderline cases and some will "just miss."

This is the time for award banquets, and this is always a pleasant one as team members receive their block letters and individual awards.

Basketball and wrestling are being honored at this time.

CONGRATULATIONS are definitely in order to the Acalenes and Las Lomas basketball teams, who did better than all right in post season tournament play.

Acalanes wound up third in the Acker Tournament held at Chico, while the Knights put on a whirlwind finish to cop the Tracy Invitational.

Pleasant Hill wrestlers also did themselves proud as they won the Northern State title.

THE DIABLO VALLEY ATHLETIC League all in all has had a good year to date, and on the basis of the first showing of spring sports, more is to come in the way of top performances.

It's spring sports now, but fall and football are not far off. Last week the first of numerous showings of football gear were shown. As in every other field, advances in design and construction are constantly being made. Probably the greatest advance is the use of plastic which not only gives far greater protection, but makes equipment lighter and more comfortable to the user.

Izaak Walton Group Plan Meet

Persons interested in conservation of natural resources, in better hunting and fishing, and in cleaner and wider outdoor opportunities are cordially invited to attend a meeting to be held at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Walnut Bowl, 1595 Botelho Avenue, Walnut Creek.

The purpose of the meeting is to form a new chapter of the Izaak Walton League in the Orinda - Lafayette - Walnut Creek area.

Formed in 1922, the I.W.L. has a record over the years of responsible leadership in conservation work at both local and national levels. It is incorporated as a non-profit organization, and has no political or religious affiliations.

It led the fight for clean streams and helped to initiate the first effective federal pollution program which resulted in Public Law 660. This law has been a major factor in the control of pollution in the United States.

The league stimulates resource teaching through conservation education, has a youth program for training in resource problems and encourages soil conservation and improved land-use practices.

The meeting is open to the public and persons interested in this field of public service are urged to attend. For further information call AT 3-3659.

Today's Teenagers Are Rebels Without a Cause

"Teenagers are rebels without a cause—we must give them one that is worthy of them!" So stated the Reverend William Pothier, associate pastor of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, in speaking to a group of parents at St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Walnut Creek.

"We have failed our children," he said. "Young people today have no status. They find it very difficult to get a real job. We have taken away their worthwhile activities and have substituted time fillers. The teenagers know they're phony."

The community is responsible for today's headlines, Mr. Pothier continued. We should have provided a community family for youth, but we have not. When communications break down between the teen and his parents, he needs another responsible, interested adult to listen to his troubles. To whom can he turn?

"Psychiatrists' counches are full of people who only need somebody to listen. We must learn to listen with real interest to our youth."

The coming 10 years will be years of decision for these young people. Which college will they attend, if any? What line of work will they pursue? Will they marry now or later? These are major decisions, and we have not prepared them for decision-making. Theirs is the freedom to choose. It's our job to see that they learn to choose wisely.

What can we do about it?

There are no easy answers, according to Mr. Pothier. Each adult must ask himself: What have I done for our youth? He must search himself and find the courage to look behind odd haircuts and clothing and ask: Why must they make themselves different?

Reverend Pothier submits the problem is self-identity. Unsure of themselves, they identify with the group by wearing the current hair styles and following the clothing fads.

When we are sure of ourselves as real, worthwhile people, we need no gimmicks for security.

All teens have some problems, Mr. Pothier maintains. It is the duty, and should be the pleasure of every adult in our community to help when needed. "You'd be surprised at the number of young people who just need adult friendliness. Try smiling at them sometime."

Although parents become incensed at youth's "bad manners", too many adults don't take time to introduce their own friends to their children, and fail to be pleasant to their children's friends.

Mr. Pothier speaks as a parent as well as a counselor. The Pothiers have a 17-year-old son, a 14-year-old daughter, and a 10-year-old daughter.

Fitting action to need, the Orinda Episcopal Church has opened a canteen for high-school age boys and girls, which is open every day after school.

Hostesses — usually mothers of teenagers, welcome the young people, serve cookies, and generally make themselves agreeable in friendly talks and recreational activities.

Soft drinks are available, ping pong, chess, checkers, cards and music are provided. Some of the young people spend their time doing homework in a quiet corner, or simply talking. Mr. Pothier is the director, but says he does a very small amount of directing.

"They know I'm here if they want me," he added.

The canteen is not limited to the church's parishioners. Teens throughout the area are welcome. Closing time is around 5:30 p.m., since that's time to meet dads and help moms at home.

Mr. Pothier is also trying to get a machine shop for some of the boys. Many of them are not college-bound, he said, and need this type of work experience.

"We want our children to be first-class citizens," he summed up. "To accomplish this we must treat them as such. We must be aware of them and accept them as they are—not as we might wish they were.

"Teenagers are people!"

TAXES IN TEXAS

Taxes on the oil and gas industry and its products provide Texas with about 55 per cent of its revenues, according to the National Automobile Club.

Sanitary Dist. Acts to End Long Wrangle

Directors of the Central Contra Costa Sanitary District have begun action to end their $407,000 contract with the M. Miller Co. for installation of almost a mile of 72-inch outfall sewer.

Approximately 800 feet of the pipe remain to be installed, with an additional 200 feet needing further work, according to district aides. The job, between the Arnold Highway and Suisun Bay, was to have been completed in June of last year by the Los Angeles company.

THE DIRECTORS voted to terminate the contract, as a legal formality, at their meeting last week. They expect to formulate plans next Thursday evening on how to complete the job.

It is expected that the work may be done on an emergency cost-plus contract to avoid more delay through new calls for bids.

The Los Angeles firm has given strike situations and weather conditions as responsible for the delays. The firm has also alleged the engineering plans for the project were faulty.

THE CONTRACTOR and the sanitary district have been engaged in the controversy for months. Penalty claims and claims for excess costs have been submitted, and the contractor took one phase of the wrangle to court.

At the semi-monthly meeting, the district board also authorized its chairman to sign an agreement whereby the district will process excess sewage for the City of Concord. This move will alleviate the need for expansion of the municipal sewer plant beyond plans already completed.

Real Estate Viewpoint . . .

Looking for Money? It Can Be Had These Days

By BILL HAYWARD

DANVILLE BUSTS INTO THE BUILDING NEWS . . . with the announcement of a new 12 lane Bowling Alley near the corner of Freitas Road and the Danville-San Ramon Highway. Looks like Danville is moving to the south. Safeway Stores have broken ground at the south tip of the main business district.

The Brass Door . . . popular San Ramon Restaurant will soon build on a parcel of land also near the intersection of Freitas Road. . . . This once quiet meadow should soon be the center of a hustling bustling business and recreation center. San Ramon has a part in this future too.

REAL ESTATE MEN ON THE WAY UP . . . may be interested to know that a most valuable and interesting book entitled "HOW TO BE CONSISTENTLY SUCCESSFUL IN REAL ESTATE" is now available thru the Real Estate Books Institute at Englewood Cliffs, New Jersey, for $4.95. This book written by Sam G. Russell of Denver, Colorado, is the very best that I have read on the deep subject.

I have developed quite a library over the past 15 years on the varied subjects concerning Real Estate, however, this book in some 200 pages has all the bases well covered. Especially for the new man that wished to go ahead fast . . . get his feet on solid ground . . . learn the right habits in selling Real Estate . . . get this book today, write direct and you might include an extra 25 cents for mailing, etc.

THIS IS A BOOK to live by if you are in the business of selling Real Estate or in any other phase of the business.

There seems to be a slight easing of the finance and money tension. We still have to expect to pay at least 4½ points for a 30 year minimum down payment FHA loan . . . however, there seems to be more of this type of money available than there was just a few weeks ago.

Conventional funds for the banks and savings and loan associations varies for a low of 6½ per cent up to 7.2 per cent depending on the size, location and age of a given property. The life insurance companies which lend thru local money lenders . . . Lance Mortgage, Lee Rahn and Macy Brown & Fields are all about the same with 6¼ per cent as a low and with plenty of dough avilable.

BIG LIFE Company . . . Equitable . . . thru the local agency here in Walnut Creek will make liberal construction loans as well as ample purchase loans providing you wish to include some life insurance along with the loan on your home. Paul Fanning of Equitable is the guy to check with on this plan . . . lots of millions available.

RECAPPING THE REAL ESTATE MARKET . . . thru January and February of 1960 . . . according to all the realtors and salesmen that I have spoken to in the last few days . . . 1960 got off the ground in a hurry right after January 4th when the New Year Festivities were over . . . the activity has continued steadily thru February without even a slump during the Squaw Valley Winter Olympics . . . all offices that have any hustle at all enjoyed a good start for 1960 . . .

As we enter March and the end of the first quarter . . . I judge that everyone on the local scene will be saying that 1960 is to be the real estate year in Contra Costa County . . . this is the viewpoint for today.

SALT

Salt water intrusion into underground water basins is one of the serious water problems facing many areas of California, says the State Department of Water Resources. The sea has eaten its way into portions of the Salinas Valley, Alameda County, and Orange County for distances of two or more miles, making ground water unfit for use, officials say.

Jan Peerce, In Concert, March 19

Jan Peerce, leading tenor of the Metropolitan Opera, will appear in concert at the Las Lomas High School in Walnut Creek on March 19 at 8 p.m.

This concert will be sponsored by the Acalanes Community Concert Association.

The 1960-1961 membership campaign has begun and persons buying a new membership will be guests of the association at the Peerce concert.

Memberships may be purchased at campaign headquarters which is at Stevenson Electronics at 1531 Locust Street, Walnut Creek.

The Minneapolis Symphony and Pilar Gomez, company of dancers and musicians will be presented on the new series, with other great artists.

Camellia Lovers, Note! Show Is Next Weekend

Now that its camellia time again, garden enthusiasts will have an opportunity next week end to view thousands of exotic camellias at the annual flower show of the Northern California Camellia Society Saturday and Sunday, March 19-20.

It's camellia week in Contra Costa County—and this area is real camellia country, "climatic and soil conditions make these flowers a natural here," states show chairman Arthur Patterson of Concord. All the past shows big winners were Contra Costans and this year should be a repeat for camellia growers of this region.

IN THE individual and group bloom display, over 400 varieties will be shown, many new rare types for the first time. Ten trophy cups, hundreds of ribbons and certificates will be awarded and you need not be a member to exhibit, just bring blooms to the show by 10 a.m. Saturday, March 19. It can be stressed that in past shows top awards were by growers exhibiting just a few blooms.

A far-east fantasy land setting is being created emphasizing a camellia garden at the "Taj Mahal" of India. Painstaking work has gone into making settings and planning the exhibits which is being staged by the 200 members of the society along with leading nurseries and garden clubs of this area.

A HIGHLIGHT OF the show will be a mass display of 100 floral arrangements under the supervision of Mrs. Milton Bell of Walnut Creek, nationally accredited flower show judge and authority. Both professional and amateur artists will display their work, awards will be made in 24 different classes.

The show location is the Walnut Creek Armory on Carmel Drive, admission is 50 cents, the purpose of the show is to show the garden lover how beautiful camellias can be and what little care these plants require.

Diablo Pageant of Arts Will Have Party Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Cannon of Hemme Lane, Alamo, will open their estate home to the public Sunday from 3 to 5 p.m. at a membership drive party for the Diablo Pageant of Arts Society.

Mrs. Baya Rocklin, membership chairman, said the party was designed to attract new members to the society, which annually presents the Pageant of Arts in May.

A 25-MINUTE musical program has been planned to highlight the afternoon. Mrs. Rosalind Pollycove, Walnut Creek pianist, will play "Sonata in E Major" and "Sonata in D Major," both by Italian composer Dominico Scarlatti, and also "G Minor Ballade" by Chopin.

The second part of the program will feature Mrs. Rayna Edwards and Kenneth Wohn in several operatic duets from "Tosca" and "La Boheme" by Puccini and a duet by Brahms.

Mrs. Edwards is currently directing a one-act chamber opera, "Opera Opera" for presentation of at the May pageant. She is also scheduled to appear as Lady Macbeth in the American premiere of the opera version of "Macbeth" at the University of California later this month.

WOHN, ORINDA tenor, also has a role in "Opera Opera." He is associated with Dr. Jan Popper's Opera Workshop on the UC campus, which is producing the "Macbeth" opea. Wohn will sing the role of Duncan in this opera, opposite Mrs. Edwards.

Punch and refreshments will also be served at the party, which is one in a series of parties in the membership drive.

The Cannon estate is located at the end of Hemme Lane in Alamo. Turn off Danville Highway at the Shady Lane Inn.

ARMY

A "taxicab army" helped change the course of World War I, according to World Book Encyclopedia. In 1914, when Paris was in danger of being captured by Germans, the military governor of the city commandeered 700 taxicabs. He filled them with 3000 troops and sent them to the banks of the Marne River, where the French stopped the Germans.

Summer's Not Far Away-- Think About New Bulbs

We tend to overlook many summer bulbs — partly because we aren't familiar with them, and partly because they have to be planted when spring bulbs are blooming.

Gladiolus and dahlias we remember through habit and because they are summer friends of long standing. Begonias we plant, too, for the same reason. But what of the lesser known bulbs such as Cannas, Tigridias, Agapanthus and Watsonias. Sure, you're heard of them, but how often do you plant them?

A CHECK with the California Association of Nurserymen indicates that Cannas are most widely grown of this quartet. Agapanthus is widely used by landscape designers, but home gardeners seldom plant it on their own. You can look a long way before you find Tigridias and even further before a Watsonia meets your eye.

Cannas are really not uncommon in warm valley gardens, but they could stand far greater use in sunny borders closer to the coast. Tropical in appearance, they are also tropical in tastes—needing plenty of water in addition to rich soil and sun to produce the medium to tall spikes of color that make such a vivid addition to border backgrounds. The oranges and reds are showiest; the pinks most appealing.

Agapanthus, or Lily of the Nile, produces one of our finest blues in California gardens. The showy umbels of color stand high on straight stems above green clumps of foliage. While it's a bulb, you buy it in divisions and treat it as a perennial, dividing only after several years when it becomes over crowded.

WE HAVE a soft spot in our hearts for Tigridias, or Mexican Shell Flowers, as you may know them. The shallow, triangular cups of color last but a single day, opening with the morning sun, dying with the onset of dusk. But single plants produce an outstanding succession of the lovely, spotted blooms, day after day.

Watsonias are gladiolus - like bulbs with an indifference to attention which makes them ideal for out of the way garden spots. Spikes of white, pink or red flowers push up from swordlike foliage in late spring or early summer. These are not the lush blooms of a gladiolus, but a very pleasant garden addition nontheless.

For a "best bargain in blooms," it's still not too late to plant anemones and ranunculus. You might provide them with some summer shade later on.

United Fund Elects New President

Henley V. Worthington of Concord has succeeded Ed J. J. McKeegan of Richmond as president of the Contra Costa United Fund, Inc.

Election of officers and board members was held at the third annual meeting at Walnut Bowl, Walnut Creek.

Worthington said, "For a long time I have been interested in United Crusade—first in Alameda and then in Contra Costa county.

"Because I firmly believe in federated giving, I am pleased to accept this responsibility. The team last year made 101 per cent of the goal. I am confident that this year with an equally excellent team we will match it, if not better that record."

He is district manager for the Diablo District Pacific Gas and Electric serving Central and East Contra Costa and has been with the company for 32 years.

He is a member of board of governors of United Bay Area Crusade and Executive Committee, member of board of directors, Executive Committee and Allocations Committee of Contra Costa United Crusade, first president of Central Contra Costa Welfare Council, vice president of the Contra Costa County Development Association, member of Concord Rotary Club.

Serving with Worthington for the 1960-61 term will be Dana Murdock of Richmond, first vice president; Douglas Beasley of Pittsburg, Paul Boyd, president of AFL-CIO Central Labor Council, of Martinez, Ben Goldberger of Pittsburg, Willard Knowles of Martinez.

Roy Matson of Building and Construction Trade Council of Martinez, Kenneth McPhee of Richmond, and Gene Williams of Walnut Creek, vice presidents, and Charles D. Gable of Walnut Creek, treasurer.

Bermuda Grass Lawns Should Get A Stiff Raking

These items should be checked by area gardeners this week:

Give Bermuda grass lawns a stiff raking with a steel rake to get up runners. Then cut close and feed as soon as it starts to "green up"—adding some seed is a good idea too. If you want to do away with Bermuda Grass, there's a selective weed killer to do the job.

Prune wisteria heavily after spring bloom if vines are getting out of hand.

Remember fuchsias bloom on new wood, so prune heavily when danger of frost is over if you want to insure a high proportion of new growth on the shrub.

Sprout begonia tubers in flats of peat and sand indoors. Set them out after all danger of March frost is past.

Prune acacias after bloom to keep them from growing to unwieldly size. Don't be shy with the shears.

Time to Acquire Dog Licenses Its Short -- Seeley

Agricultural Commissioner A. L. Seeley today urged all dog owners to obtain licenses prior to April 1 to avoid the $2 penalty fee for late licensing.

To date about 10,000 licenses have been sold in the county and there are at least twice this number of dogs which as yet have not been licensed, stated Seeley.

A rabies vaccination is required, prior to licensing, for all dogs not vaccinated since June 1, 1958. Persons who do not license their dogs by April 1 may be subject to court citation.

Application envelopes are available at your local veterinarian, city clerk or animal control center. The licenses may be obtained in person from the county clerk's office in Martinez or Richmond.

100 'Extra' Texts Are Adopted

More than 100 textbooks on the three Rs, science and the other fundamentals have been adopted as supplementary texts by the Contra Costa County board of education, on recommendation of committees of teachers and curriculum specialists.

The supplementary texts—used in conjunction with state texts—will be purchased by a majority of the county's districts with elementary schools.

Under state law the county board adopts supplementary textbooks and other materials for use in all elementary schools except those of city and unified districts.

Two of the latter, however—Antioch and Pittsburg—participate in the selection and use of county-adopted texts rather than perform the function themselves.

County board members adopted the books as recommended at a meeting, March 2.

The meeting was attended by a group representing each of eight committees which made book selections in a given subject. Mrs. Evelyn Jegi, consultant in curriculum development for Contra Costa County Schools, presented the report.

Representing the selection committees were Mrs. Betty Poplack, elementary curriculum consultant, Antioch Unified; Mrs. Sybil McCabe, curriculum coordinator, Martinez schools; Mrs. Phyllis Ross, curriculum supervisor, San Pablo.

E. A. Poe, assistant superintendent in charge of instruction, Pittsburg Unified; Mary Byrnes, curriculum director, Danville; John E. Clark, principal of Glorietta School, Orinda; and Warren Coffee, science consultant, Orinda.

Mrs. Graylis Vossler, curriculum consultant for Lafayette School District, was unable to be present.
